By GLENN SCHOTTEN
LISBON — The bellow and bleat of blue-ribbon livestock will ring across the Columbiana County Fairgrounds and the harvest scent of ripe farm produce will fill the exhibit halls when the 109th annual Fair opens its gates Tuesday.

Church Leaders Rap Segregation

Says Racial Separation Is 'Great Scandal'

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Christian leaders from many lands today were told that racial segregation is "the great scandal in the church especially in the United States and South Africa."

The problem was laid before delegates to the assembly of the World Council of Churches with a suggestion that they search for its solution in "a calm Christian spirit."

Great Scandal In Church

Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, termed racial separation "the great scandal in the church," and added:

"The local churches permit secular bodies such as the state and federal courts, the United Nations, big league baseball, professional boxing, colleges, the public schools and theaters to initiate change in the area of race."

"But even when secular bodies initiate the charge, local churches, Negro and white, follow slowly or not at all."

"It will be a sad commentary on our life and time if future historians can write that the last bulwark of segregation based on color in the United States and South Africa was God's church."

Dr. Ben Marais of the Dutch Reformed Church of South Africa told the conference:

Look For Guidance

"Christian men and women in many lands look towards the church for guidance."

He pointed out that tensions of often develop between racial groups, and added:

"Therefore it is becoming that we face this problem in a calm Christian spirit."

The addresses of Dr. Mays, a delegate and a Baptist, and Dr. Marais, an assembly consultant, were prepared for delivery before representatives of 163 denominations in 48 countries.

Col. Francis P. Miller, a delegate from Charlottesville, Va., asserted that churches have failed to educate laymen to regard their workaday jobs as he "place to which God has called them to serve Him."

Many, he said, are inclined to think of their lives as Christians as separate from their lives as citizens, businessmen or factory workers.

"Regardless of what the assignment of each may be," he said, "God calls us all to stand for truth, purity of personal life, decency and fair-play in human relations, for community, for justice and for peace."

A clergyman who came from behind the Iron Curtain told churchmen yesterday that communism aims at eventual destruction of the Christian faith.

Dr. Guenter Jacob, general superintendent of a large district of the United Evangelical Church in the Soviet zone of Germany, asserted that the "gulf between Christianity and communism" cannot be bridged.

Second Swim Show Draws Capacity Crowd

A capacity crowd viewed the second performance of the second annual synchronized swimming show at Centennial Park pool Friday evening.

The 25-girl class presented a program of synchronized swimming, complemented by various clown and diving acts.

The class' coach, John Cabas, said this morning that the proceeds from the show will be used to purchase jackets, emblems and identical bathing suits for the girls for use in future years.

Congressmen Study Complaints Of Ohio Small Wheat Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressmen who wrote the Administration's new farm program still are trying to figure out what to do about a lot of complaining small wheat farmers in Ohio.

There are the farmers who protest that, to them, the wheat price support program is nothing but a nuisance—or worse.

Ordinarily, they grow about 25 acres of wheat or less, either for feed or as a cash crop. Unlike the one-crop western farmer, they gain little from the price support program.

On the contrary, says an aide to Rep. William McCulloch (R-Ohio) of Piqua, they object to having the government tell them to reduce their acreage. This, he says, merely upsets their rotational system.

As an example of dissatisfaction, a number of Ohio congressmen such as J. Harry McGregor, Clarence Brown, McCulloch and Frank Row, all Republicans, point to the recent vote in Ohio on wheat acreage quotas.

The vote was 2-1 against quotas. But they must abide by them anyway because the national vote was 73.3 per cent in favor of quotas.

Chairman Clifford R. Hope (R-Kan.) of the House Agriculture Committee recognizes these Ohio farmers pose a special problem.

Actually, his committee did do something about this for small farmers in 13 other states, including New England, several southern states and Arizona and Nevada.

Wheat farmers in those states, because their production is 25,000 acres or less, need not participate in the price support-acreage control program.

These 13 states are classified "non-commercial wheat areas." Just the other day, Hope said on the House floor in response to questions by Rep. Jackson Betts (R-Ohio) of Findlay:

"We have not gone far enough to include a state like Ohio, which

Congress OKs Social Security Revision Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress has passed a bill liberalizing and extending the social security system just about as President Eisenhower wanted.

The measure aroused some pre-adjournment political bickering, but both House and Senate shouted approval of a compromise version late yesterday and the bill—final major legislation of the 83rd Congress—went to Eisenhower for his expected signature.

It will increase present and future benefits to retired persons and survivors, boost taxes to finance the higher payments and bring an additional 10 million persons under the 20-year-old system.

This was one of the key bills in the Eisenhower legislative program and one from which the Republicans expect to reap a political harvest.

Particularly is this true since the increased payments to 6½ million persons now on the rolls will go out about the first of October, when the fall campaign for control of Congress will be in full swing.

Democrats, however, insist the voters will not forget that the system originated under a Democratic administration and Congress and that the Democratic party has fought to expand it.

The bill will extend social security coverage to nearly all working people in America, whether they are employed by others or are self-employed.

The biggest new group brought into the system comprises 3,600,000 farmers and 2,100,000 additional farm hands.

Farm coverage aroused a last-minute controversy in the Senate over the bill as finally worked up by a Senate-House conference. The Senate had excluded farm operators, but House conferees stood firm on this point and finally won over to their side the three Senate Republican conferees.

Intruder Flees From Elkton Road Residence

COLUMBIANA — An intruder broke into the home of Kimsey Bell on the Upper Elkton Rd., Friday night at about 7:30, but escaped apprehension.

Deputy Sheriff Al Hartman said neighbors, E. K. Bell and Mrs. Harold Bilsby thought they saw someone at the house and investigated. The family is on vacation.

They found a young man hiding in a closet, but he escaped and drove away in a small truck. However, he ran the truck into a nearby ditch and then fled on foot.

U.S. Attempts To Negotiate EDC Settlement

Special Ambassador Meets With German, Belgian Ministers

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — The United States stepped into the impasse here over the European army plan today in a desperate effort to negotiate a settlement.

Special Ambassador David K. Bruce, the United States' expert on European integration problems, flew in from Paris unannounced last night. He arrived as the foreign ministers were locked in a marathon eight-hour session trying to hammer out their differences over France's proposal changes in the European Defense Community treaty. The meeting did not break up until after midnight.

Met With Adenauer

Bruce met for an hour this morning with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and then went to see Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak, chairman of the six-nation conference.

A German spokesman said the main purpose of Bruce's talk with Adenauer was to bring about a reconciliation between him and French Premier Mendes-France on EDC.

"We hope this talk will help us overcome some of the still outstanding difficulties," the spokesman said.

West Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg already have ratified the European army pact. France and Italy have not.

Failed To Bridge Gap

Bargaining here the past two days has failed to bridge the wide gap between the army plan in its original form and France's new proposed version.

Unwilling to admit defeat, the foreign ministers assigned a committee of defense, legal and economic experts to meet again today to try working out details of a compromise proposed by Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak.

The ministers planned to take up the compromise plan in an afternoon session. This probably will be the final attempt at a settlement in the parley, which had been scheduled to end yesterday.

Salem Man Given Medal For Valor In Korean Campaign

A Salem man, Sgt. George D. Stapleton of the Goshen Rd., was decorated with a Commendation Ribbon for meritorious service in Korea at a parade in honor of "Old Home Week" in East Liverpool last night.

At a reviewing stand in front of the East Liverpool city hall, Brig. Gen. Russell Ramsey of Sandusky, the commanding general of the 83rd Division, commended Stapleton for his service in Korea from Oct. 20, 1952, through July 27, 1953 as a battalion operational sergeant.

He was cited for his preparation of reports, map overlays, patrol plans and dispensing valuable information to the front lines although it exposed him to enemy observation and fire.

2nd Lt. Robert E. Foutts of East Liverpool was given a Silver Star for gallantry in Korea on July 15, 1953. In addition, seven army reserve units were activated Friday night at the ceremonies.

POLICE RELEASE WOMAN

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Heights police yesterday released a 36-year-old woman companion of James H. Lett, who is held in the writing of five extortion letters.

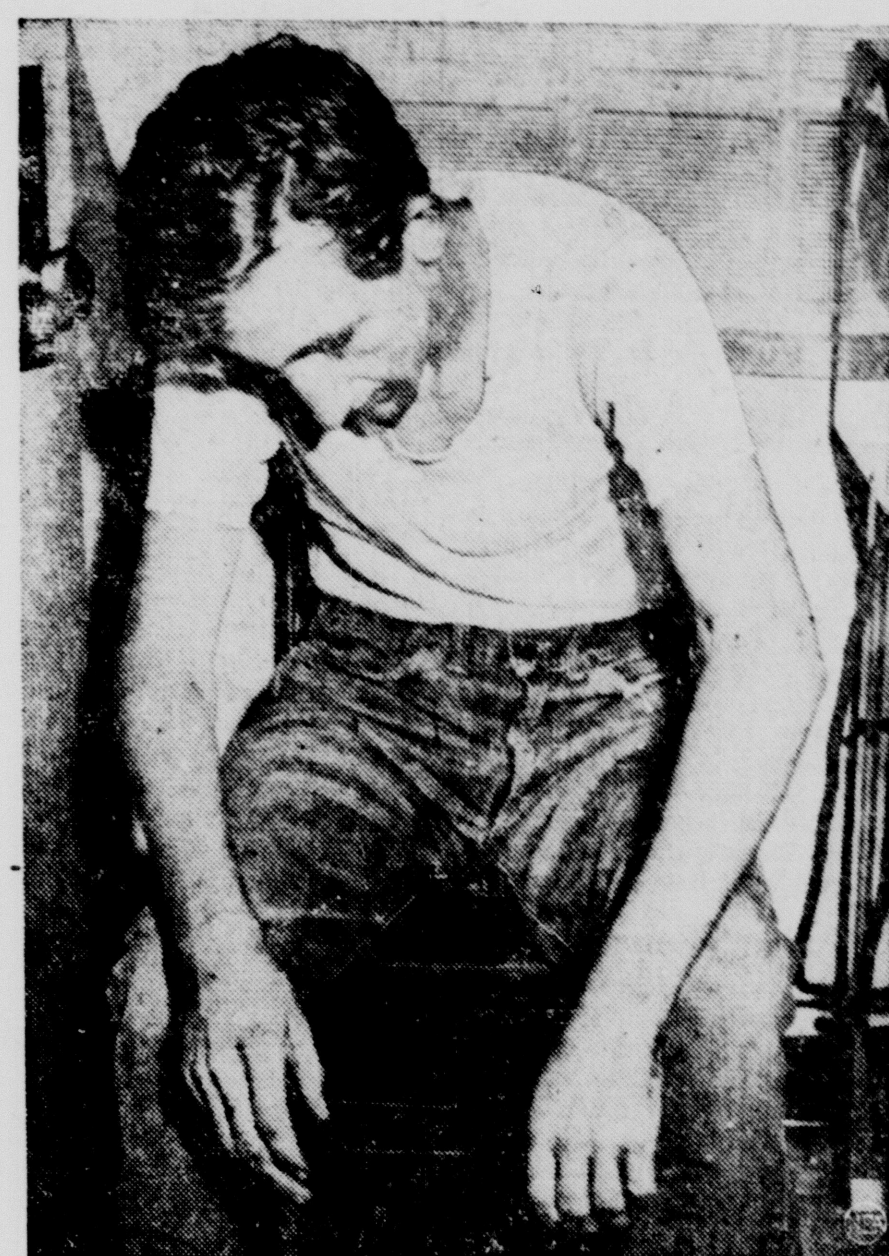

Police Capt. Charles Ruff said a two-hour lie detector test convinced officers Lett, 37-year-old machinist, had no accomplices in his plot to extort $20,000 from Miss Kay M. Halle, department store heiress.

State St. Blocked Monday For Paving

Parking meters will be removed Sunday from the three-block section of downtown State Street, preparatory to the start of the paving project early Monday morning.

State Street will be blocked to vehicular traffic Monday, westbound traffic being detoured over E. Second St. and east-bound traffic over Pershing St. This will be one-way traffic only.

The Ellsworth, Broadway, Lundy and Lincoln Avenue intersections with State St. will be kept open as long as possible in order to prevent a tie-up of north and south-bound cars.

The widening and repaving of Salem's main thoroughfare will be done by the O'Dell Construction Co. of Painesville, which was awarded the contract by the State Highway Department on a bid of $67,474.10.

The contract calls for an Oct. 31 completion date although O'Dell expects to be finished before that time.

Removal of the present asphalt and brick surface will be started Monday morning by a sub-contractor, Leslie Hoopes of Salem. This work will start in front of the Post-office, progressing west to Ellsworth Ave.

Eventually, Lundy and Broadway intersections will be closed, but Ellsworth and Lincoln corners will remain open until the last. City Service Director James Fejer said.

To Reset Fire Hydrants

The one-way traffic on Second St. (west-bound) and on Pershing St. (east-bound) will be tried out so as to permit parking on these streets which parallel State St., Mayor Dean Cranmer explained. "If this doesn't work we will allow two-way traffic on these side streets," he said.

Fire Chief Clarence Wright said today that fire hydrants on the downtown street will be reset one at a time starting Monday. In this manner, fire protection will not be hampered, he explained.

The placing of the new light poles also will begin Monday. The bases for the new mercury vapor lights already have been set, having been placed back in anticipation of the widening of the street from 36 to 40 feet.

AUTO DAMAGED IN MISHAP

An auto driven by Dale E. Hull, 26, of Salineville was slightly damaged at 3:29 p.m. Friday at the intersection of W. State St. and Jennings Ave. when it was struck by a car driven by Leroy C. Urmsion, 27, of Philadelphia. According to police, Urmsion stated that he didn't see Hull's signal and went to pass him as he turned.

Speeding Car Crashes Into Embankment

Two Truckers Pull Victims Out As Auto Catches Fire

A speeding auto which Lisbon police say may have been going 100 miles an hour crashed into an embankment just inside the east village limits of Lisbon early this morning, sending four Salem youths to City Hospital.

Most seriously injured was Jack E. Cramer Jr., 23, of 1124 Short St. He suffered lacerations of the lip, contusions of the chest and right shoulder and possible internal injuries. Hospital authorities list his condition as just fair.

Others injured were the driver, Lee H. Utterback, 21, of 469 Fair St., in fair condition with compound fractures of the right leg and a possible fractured nose.

Kenny Hepler, 22, of 1250 S. Lincoln Ave., in fair condition with lacerations of the head and possible concussion and James W. Bradley, 19, of 350 E. 2nd St., listed as fair with head concussion and body bruises.

Car Hurtles Through Air

Village patrolmen H. E. Wellman said the auto struck the Erie Railroad tracks on Jackson St. at high speed at 6:10 a.m., hurtled through the air 35 feet and hit the bank near Tommy's Diner with terrific impact.

As it struck the bank at an angle, the 1951 sedan bounced into a utility pole, knocked over a four by six neon sign and tore a chunk of wood from the pole. The car landed against another embankment across the alley from the restaurant, the motor roaring and horn blowing.

The speeding car, going west on Route 39, traveled about 300 feet from the time the brakes were applied until it struck the tracks, Wellman declared.

Tom Sennafenes, owner of the diner, had just opened for the day.

The boys were pulled from the demolished auto by Francis Tasco of 125 W. Washington St., Lisbon, and George Rouse of Lisbon RD 4, truckers who were traveling east on E. Washington St. when the accident occurred.

Tasco said the car burst into flames shortly after the boys were removed from the wreckage. Rushing to his truck he returned with a small fire extinguisher and doused the blaze. The car was nearly demolished.

Beloit Boy Injured

Two other persons were injured and two arrested as a result of three other traffic mishaps that occurred Friday on highways near Salem, state highway patrolmen reported.

A 17-year old Beloit youth was treated by a Damascus doctor for lacerations of the forehead and scalp and abrasions of the back and arms following a collision with a truck at 2:45 p.m. yesterday at the intersection of Route 62 and Westville Lake Road.

According to patrolmen, the youth who will appear before juvenile authorities, crashed a stop sign and hit a truck driven by Armond Rich, 43, of Niles, demolishing his car and severely damaging the truck.

In another accident, Marvin Daugherty, 27, Fair Oaks Pa., lost control of his vehicle following a blowout and crashed into a house owned by Jack Taylor of Elkton.

The building, located on Route 154, suffered slight damages, but Daugherty's truck was demolished.

Daugherty, suffering severe lacerations and contusions of the scalp, is listed in fair condition in Salem City Hospital. The accident occurred at 10 p.m. yesterday.

WCTU Becomes Octogenarian Next Month

Local Union, Formed 72 Years Ago, To Join In Anniversary

By PEARL WALKER

Largest women's organization of its kind in America, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union will celebrate its 80th anniversary at the national convention Sept. 16-22 in Lexington, Ky., and representatives of the WCTU in this area plan to attend.

The Salem Union will mark its 72nd anniversary in November, while the Columbiana County organization will be 64 years old next month.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union is the outgrowth of sentiment created by the temperance Crusades. While there has been some discussion, through the years, as to which town first started the temperance Crusades, it is generally agreed that the first Crusaders met in the Baptist Church at Fredonia, N.Y., Dec. 15, 1873. The following year the first WCTU was organized.

The Crusaders were made up of little bands of home women who went into saloons with petitions for their closing, and also prayed there. Husbands tried to dissuade the women from going into the saloons, so the story goes. However, when they were unable to keep them out, the men went to the churches to pray and sang church bells every hour to give the women moral support.

TODAY THERE ARE more than 400,000 WCTU members, including several thousand men. The men are classed as honorary or sustaining members without a vote. There are five age groups within the WCTU — the general organization, the Iota Sigma, Youth Temperance Council, Loyal Temperance Legion and White Ribbon Recruits. The Sojourner Truth WCTU is made up of Negro women, with unions active particularly in the South.

National headquarters at Evanston, Ill., includes a modern publishing house and the Frances E. Willard Memorial Library for Alcohol Research, established in 1939, said to be the largest library of its kind in the world.

THE SALEM UNION was formed Nov. 24, 1882, when interested women met at the First Friends Church. Mrs. M. M. Wetmore was the first president and Mrs. Mary F. Woodruff was the first secretary.

In the early days of the local union the women operated a sewing school, where dozens of garments were made for the city's poor and needy. The WCTU also promoted a toy mission and in the year of 1900 more than 100 children were given packages containing toys, books, and wearing apparel. In 1902 the Salem women entertained the state convention and the same year was successful in securing a local option election in Perry Township, which was made "dry" by a majority of 24 votes. That year 675 bouquets were sent out to the sick and shut-ins and over 12,000 pages of literature was distributed.

The first Columbiana County WCTU convention was held Sept. 11, 1890, in the Salem Presbyterian Church. Mrs. M. F. Dorr of Winona, was temporary county president, and Miss Lauretta Barnaby of Salem was chairman of entertainment. Rev. D. C. Pomeroy of Salem gave the convention greeting and Mrs. Mary Forehope of Salem was one of the devotional leaders.

A COUNTY organization was effected at this convention and the first annual county convention was held in the Damascus Friends Church, Oct. 6, 1891. Mrs. Dorr was retained as president, Miss Evaline W. Nelson of Lisbon was the first secretary.

Among the Salem women who held county offices in the early days of the organization were Mrs. Sina H. Bundy, Mrs. Marietta B. Teas, Miss Laura M. Schilling, Mrs.

W. E. Bunn, Mrs. Mary B. Arrison, Mrs. Robert Trimble, Mrs. Catharine Finney, Mrs. L. E. McCammon, Mrs. Mary E. Cope and Mrs. Mary Quass.

Mrs. L. M. Kyes, member of the East Palestine union, who served the county in an official capacity for 33 years, came into the WCTU as a White Ribbon Recruit. The WRC's are under six years of age and are enrolled by their parents. Mrs. Kyes is the mother of Roger M. Kyes, vice president of General Motors Corp. and former U.S. deputy secretary of defense. Mr. Kyes, also a White Ribbon Recruit, was active in the Youth Temperance Council.

Mrs. Kyes is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Rogers, on whose farm the village of Rogers was founded more than 71 years ago. Mrs. Rogers, a teacher, had served the Rogers Union as president.

THE COUNTY convention will be held at Rogers this autumn. Mrs. Ida Morris has been president of the Rogers union for more than 16 years.

Names of the county 1953-54 officers are as follows:

President, Mrs. Donald Mayhew of RD 2, Salem; vice president, Mrs. Anna Nolesheim of Columbiana; recording secretary, Mrs. Lillie Lewton of Lisbon; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Herman C. Stratton of Salem; treasurer, Mrs. Mae Tyson of Columbiana.

Bender Says Elections To Show Faith In Ike

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio, (AP) — November elections will show whether the nation repudiates President Eisenhower's efforts to achieve a peaceful and prosperous world, Rep. George H. Bender (R-Ohio) said here yesterday. If Democrats gain control, he said it would mean two years of confusion and chaos.

Bender, Cuyahoga County congressman, is seeking election Nov. 2 to the unexpired term of Ohio's late Sen. Robert A. Taft. He addressed the Ross County Women's Republican Club here. His opponent is Sen. Thomas A. Burke of Cleveland.

Large Paycheck Stubs Cause Bank Trouble

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — This city's new paychecks, which have a stub similar in size and shape to the check itself, caused consternation in a local bank.

City Controller O. A. Dietrich told the city staff session yesterday he had received a hurried call from the bank. An official asked him to send an empyoe back to the bank.

"We find we have cashed his stub," Dietrich quoted the official.

Perry Grange Holds Inspection Program

Wednesday night was annual inspection night at Perry Grange Hall and County Deputy and Mrs. Roger Stafford conducted inspection in subordinate and juvenile granges, respectively.

Arthur Patterson is subordinate master and Carol Hawkins, juvenile master.

The adult grangers viewed a program which included tap dancing by Jodale Kilbreath; safety hints by Mrs. Arthur Patterson; stunt by Mrs. Eldon Groves and Mrs. Oliver Duke; vocal numbers, "The Lass with the Delicate Air," "Come Back to Sorrento" and "Lilacs" by Mrs. Chris Perrott;

Piano solo, a medley by Violet Nye; article, "Stop Charity Racketeers" by Mrs. Walter Hillard; article on "Statue of Liberty" by Floyd McCartney and stunt by Perry Hillard, Earl Shasteen and Richard Tullis.

Comprising the drill team of the grange which put on an exhibition were Betty Jo Hawkins, Caroline Hartman, Janice and Kathy Groves, Vivian and Richard Tullis, Perry Hillard, James Campbell, Donald Bates, and Floyd and George McCartney.

Junior Grange

Mrs. Robert Wide is matron of the Juvenile Grange and Mrs. Virgil Whinnery the assistant. Mrs. Stafford, as deputy, reviewed the degree work which was presented in full form. Two new members were inducted.

Lois Whinnery entertained with a piano solo; Ruth King read a poem; and Denise Duke presented riddles and games. Joyce Whinnery's piano solo was followed by a poem by Patty Duke.

Prizes went to Sandra Hawkins and Ruth Doyle, first and second place winners in the blouse contest. Albert Doyle and Carol Hawkins won the soap carving contest; poster winners, Betty McCartney (9-11 year olds) and Joyce Whinnery (5 to 9 year olds); doll dress, Lois and Joyce Whinnery, first and second places.

A display will be set up at the Lisbon Fair of all items resulting from the contests. Lunch concluded the meeting, served by Mrs. Ray McCartney and committee.

Both juvenile and subordinate granges will meet Sept. 1.

THINK IT OVER!

This little fellow has gotten himself all tangled up—just romping around—but he's not so dumb. He has sense enough to sit down and think things over. Chances are someone will come along and give him a hand. Alone he might have worked himself into a panic.

Isn't that the way with our daily problems? Some have simple solutions; some require the help of true friends, and oftentimes divine guidance. So often our problems have moral implications, for there is a "right" and a "wrong" way to accomplish almost every task. That is why it is so very important that each little problem be solved correctly.

The tightest snarls of life can be untangled and our difficulties overcome if we sit down quietly and consider each in the light of God's wisdom. Why should we be confused when we have the Bible and the Church as our unfailing guides?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

100 Miles Each Way

Since it appears that the lighted fuse on Formosa is going to be the one to watch for the next few weeks, there is a military equation to be considered.

It is 100 miles from the Chinese mainland to Formosa.

It is the same distance from Formosa to the mainland.

It would be just as easy for Chinese Nationalists on Formosa to invade the mainland, as far as distance is concerned, as it would be for Chinese Communists on the mainland to invade Formosa.

But there is more than distance concerned. There is naval strength. The United States possesses the only naval strength in the area, and it has announced it will do nothing to keep the Nationalists from invading the mainland although it will do everything in its power to keep the Communists from invading Formosa.

Perhaps the possibility of a Communist invasion is the only one to be considered. But among Chinese Communists there is close attention given to the possibility that recent moves in Asia might foreshadow a Nationalist invasion of the Chinese mainland. The Formosan fuse could have been lighted by Chiang Kai-shek instead of by Chou En-lai, for a change.

Chairman Mitchell's Blunder

Criticism of Democratic Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell for his use of a smear against President Eisenhower does not take into proper account the political problem that confronts professional Democratic politicians this year.

They must find something to talk about to keep themselves in attention. Chairman Mitchell was badly advised when he tried to smear President Eisenhower with a vague allegation of corruption in the handling of a public utility contract. But the fact is, Mitchell must grab his headlines wherever he can find them.

His party had used the matter of the contract as an excuse to stage a filibuster in the Senate, for the purpose of calling attention to its policy of state socialism in the electric power industry. Its chairman was going along with his party to the best of his ability. That is what he is paid to do.

It is part of his job to be the scapegoat for strategy that backfires, and that is what happened here. The criticism of Mr. Mitchell properly should be directed against all Democratic strategists trying desperately to find talking points for the 1954 congressional campaign — so desperately they can't find them for trying.

Chairman Mitchell, it can be assumed, knows better than to impugn the honesty of Dwight Eisenhower without any facts to support his smear. He blundered. But as far as that is concerned, it was a blunder to warm over state socialism as a vote-getter in the 1954 campaign.

August Appraisal

There now can be complete agreement that the Eisenhower administration has learned how to function as a government team. Its position relative to Congress in the session just ended revealed beyond any question of doubt that the uncertainty, amounting sometimes to confusion, which marked its first year in office did not reappear during the 1954 session of Congress.

The President has stuck by his original policy of cooperating with Congress, instead of trying to dictate to it. But it is clear now that a policy of cooperation does not shut out a policy of positive leadership. The amount and nature of the legislation passed by Congress this year are evidence of dynamic efforts behind the legislative scenes since last January.

The Eisenhower administration has marked out plainly the pattern of its policies in a major tax revision law, a new farm price support system, revision of the Atomic Energy Act, the St. Lawrence seaway project, liberalization of old-age security and wider coverage of unemployment insurance.

It has gained control of federal expenditures, although it still has been unable to bring about substantial reduction in their total volume. It has checked the insidious spread of state socialism at the expense of private enterprise. It has formulated a policy of vigilant preparedness in its handling of foreign relations.

The significance of its accomplishments in these respects and the significance of other policies it has begun to develop, such as reinsurance for health plans and votes for 18-year-olds has been blurred over by the usual hurly-burly of legislative give and take. But even its most active critics concede that the Eisenhower administration has made more progress toward a middle-of-the-road position in its first two years than the Roosevelt administration had made toward its position "a little to the left of center" in its first two years, when it was credited with having organized and carried out "a bloodless revolution."

Mark of True Liberals

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Nominees' Right To Dissent Respected By GOP

The Republican party is emerging as the liberal party of the nation, and President Eisenhower as the truly liberal leader.

This is because, under the acid test of what is or is not liberalism, the Republican party's leadership has taken the position that it will not punish its minority for dissenting views but will embrace within the fold the nominees of the Republican party as chosen by the people in their respective state primaries. Freedom of thought is the basic principle of liberalism.

All such things as "purges of party nominees by the president are taboo. Eisenhower has been variously represented as adopting the Truman-Roosevelt view of party "leadership," which is really a form of dictatorship. That same view was adopted by Adlai Stevenson in the campaign of 1952 and has just been reiterated by him.

Eisenhower, on the other hand, feels that Republicans can differ conscientiously and that some of the men who did not vote for certain parts of his legislative program did so in the honest belief that they were voting as their constituents wanted them to vote.

THE SUPPORT of President Eisenhower in the coming campaign for those of his party who differed with him not only is liberalism and tolerance at its best but it recognizes the very important liberal principle that the voters themselves, through their freedom of choice in the primaries, shall decide who is entitled to wear the party label in a campaign.

This has a direct bearing on the appearance just made by Eisenhower at the Illinois State Fair, where he was on the same platform with Joseph Meek, the Republican senatorial nominee in Illinois who previously had expressed different views from the President on various national issues.

From a practical political standpoint, it has always been argued that the party leader who helps a congressional nominee get elected has a better chance of winning his support in congressional votes next time than if the nominee wins the election despite the leader's open opposition.

The fundamental principle involved is that the party nominees cannot justly be repudiated by a president and that, once the people have chosen the party nominees, the president is in duty bound to support them.

What about the regular Republican voters? What is their responsibility? There is an interesting situation in New Jersey, for example, where former Representative Clifford Case won the Republican senatorial nomination in the primaries. He is facing a rebellion of Republican voters because of his record in the House of Representatives, which is charged with the New Deal.

In addition to this, he made a foolish statement after his nomination.

tion this year about his intention, if elected, the vote against the selection of Sen. McCarthy for a committee chairmanship next January if the Republicans win control of the Senate.

WHAT HE MIGHT have with propriety said was that he would vote against Sen. McCarthy in the Republican conference, where a slate of chairmen is usually prepared in advance of a formal vote by the Senate. Had he done so, he would have been expressing his convictions — and he has as much right to his views as any other Republican — but he would not then be saying, in effect, that he would cast a vote to put the Democrats in control of the Senate if by chance one vote would decide the issue of control.

Case still has an opportunity to clarify his position, as his original statement was vague on that point. Once he agrees to accept the obligations of a Republican nominee elected to the Senate — which includes voting for the slate chosen by a party majority for chairmanships — he is entitled to go before the voters as a Republican and to express his views on any issues that he wishes.

This does not mean that Case necessarily can win the election, because he is up against the problem of persuading Republican voters to cast their ballots for him, and no voter is bound by his party under the American system. He can change parties at will. But Case's chances of winning the support of regular Republicans will be improved if he indicates an intention to remain loyal to the Republican party and to accept the judgment of the party conference in the Senate on matters of committee control.

SEN. MORSE, who classifies himself as an "Independent" but who was nominated in the Republican primaries and elected in 1950, has a different concept of his responsibility to the Republican constituency which elected him. He feels that next year, if the Democrats win control, he can vote with them. This could mean that perhaps he does not intend to be a candidate in the Republican primaries again.

The important point is that Eisenhower is taking the truly liberal position when he says that he will support all Republican nominees and will not try to impose any "thought control" or "conformity of thought" on the nominees of the Republican party. He would be obliged under this doctrine to support Morse if the latter were renominated by the Republican party next time.

It's really a liberal viewpoint, and it is unfortunate that the Democratic leadership under Stevenson is still sticking to the reactionary concept that a clique of men can disregard the choice of the voters for members of Congress in the Democratic party primaries.

Health To You

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Childless Marriages Are Medical Problem

In about one American marriage out of eight there are no children. It is hard to know how often this is intentional. It is undoubtedly true that in a high percentage of cases, the couples would like to have children, but seem unable to do so.

Such involuntarily sterile marriages cause enormous distress and many divorces.

Such a situation is a medical problem. It is now known there are many possible causes for sterility.

In many cases these couples are only relatively sterile since it is by no means infrequent for them to have children after they had decided it was impossible.

Lessened fertility may be the result of chronic illness in either husband or wife, caused by any number of things such as anemia, undetected diabetes, or poor nutrition.

Frequently, when these are discovered and corrected, conception takes place with astonishing promptness.

In the past the failure to bear children was always blamed on the woman. This is no longer considered correct since it is now known that something like half of the sterile matings result from infertility of the male partner.

Since men are responsible for childless marriages nearly as often as women, an investigation of the possible causes of sterility must include thorough examination of the man.

Tests are available which can determine with great accuracy whether the barren marriage is due to male infertility. The man must cooperate though.

There are many possible causes for the sterility of women whose complicated reproductive apparatus can develop defects which interfere with childbearing.

One of the most common causes of barrenness in women is closure of the oviducts, or Fallopian tubes, which carry the egg from the ovary to the womb. If these passageways are closed, conception is impossible.

The childless couple wanting children should first be thoroughly examined by competent physicians, both of them.

When all of the necessary information on their physical condition has been collected, it is possible to decide what corrective steps can be taken.

In many cases the sterility can be overcome and those who have previously considered themselves unable to have children may have them.

Even the boldest people are pretty shy right after a vacation trip.

Adenauer's Fight For EDC

By ANTHONY TERRY

BONN While Chancellor Adenauer strives in Brussels to drive through a united defense for Europe, his own power at home erodes under the strike wave.

Prolonged industrial unrest lies ahead for West Germany, following the success of the test strike by Hamburg's public service employees. A total of 785,000 state and local government employees voted on wage increases while police guarded strike-bound factories where riots injured 21 persons.

For Adenauer, combating France's proposals to weaken EDC, the developments are far more menacing than mere evidence of industrial unrest. They are accentuating conflicts, disputes — the extremes, driving Germans into opposition camps and weakening Adenauer's own middle-of-the-road position.

IN THE RUHR over 90,000 metal workers, led by their ex-Communist union president, Otto Brenner, have served notices terminating present wage scales by the end of August, and have threatened to strike unless their demands are met.

For political and prestige reasons the unions have chosen the powerful Ruhr industrial firms as their next objective in the campaign for higher wages. These companies have been quietly regrouping in an effort to regain some of the power they lost when the big German trusts were broken up after the war.

How successful they have been is shown by the record of one of West Germany's largest chemical firms just published. This 20 million dollar firm formerly a key corporation in the German dye trust, now employs 38,000 people in its associated companies, and increased its profits 30-fold last year. A third of its output is exported, a 50 per cent increase over last year, and sales are up by over a third.

Behind the worsening atmosphere between labor and employers lie two main factors.

The first is that the average German, who agreed to a wages' truce after the war in order not to disturb industrial recovery, has now decided that too small a share of the "cream" of such successes is coming his way, and that his patriotic forbearance is being misused.

THE OTHER is the unions' need to demonstrate their strength in order to restore a waning prestige which has lost them a million members in the past three years. This has enabled the employers to negotiate private wage increases and bonuses with their employees, short-cutting the unions.

The almost truculent confidence of German employers, now on the crest of a prosperity wave, and the fact that since the Nazis came to power 21 years ago the country has never had a major strike are certain to make the forthcoming unrest bitter and violent.

One of the psychological difficulties is that the union leaders suffer from a basic inferiority complex when faced with the bad negotiators.

Allied officials who have been observing and helping the rebirth of the trade union movement in West Germany since the war are disappointed at the lack of constructive leadership, and the refusal of union officials to join government-sponsored organizations when they are in a minority.

A case in point is the newly formed federal "technical service," which the unions claim is a revival of the Nazis' "technische nothilfe," and therefore a strike-breaking organization. They have refused government offers to include union leaders in its controlling body as a means of giving them a say in its activities.

ANOTHER FACTOR which contributed to the violence of the clashes between police and strikers is the growing feeling of unease arising over the case of Dr. Otto John, the federal security chief, who has gone to East Germany.

These fears are gnawing away that confidence in the Bonn government which has been the principal factor in the "German miracle" of industrial recovery. It is going to need all Dr. Adenauer's persuasive powers to restore the faith in his administration which is the basis of German economic strength.

It is inevitable that the coming industrial strife will widen the gulf between employers and labor and compel many moderate Germans of both groups to take sides. This tendency to accentuate extremes and weaken the moderating influence of Adenauer's middle-of-the-road Christian Democratic party is the most dangerous symptom of present-day developments.

So far the German unions have been entirely free from Communist influence, despite efforts by the East Germans to make capital out of the present strikes. The union congress to be held in October may show whether the West German trade union movement is resuming its traditionally aggressive and radical character and has irrevocably chosen the path of class warfare in place of negotiation.

Baby's New Formula

By TRUMAN TWILL

First, there was an era when babies were raised by the Grandma Formula: The oldest child-bearer laid down the law because she had the most experience.

This was too good to last, besides being an endless source of friction between the mothers of yesteryear and the mothers of the moment. So the Grandma Formula for raising babies was cast out in favor of the Baby Book Formula.

The baby book came in assorted sizes, editions and degrees of knowledge. Some of the best books, as might have been expected, were written by spinsters of both sexes. Having no children to clutter their thoughts and theories, they could speak freely.

The baby book business was a gold mine. There was a book for every pocketbook and inclination—even one masterful publication distributed at cost by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. In due course of time, the country was full of babies that had been "raised by the book."

To be sure, sometimes the book was lost, and sometimes it was thrown away in anger and despair when parents discovered there was a vast difference between writing a book and subduing a yelling brat at 3 a.m. They frequently concluded, in righteous indignation, that if the people who wrote baby books raised babies, instead, the books wouldn't be written.

Their authors would learn something that finally is revealed to all mothers and fathers by divine revelation—that there is no substitute for common sense that most people have hidden away inside themselves—that the ordinary parent has about as much savvy in childrearing as the average bird has in nest-building.

For the last few years the idea has been taking root that the best way to raise kids is to do what comes naturally, consisting basically of feeding them when they are hungry, loving when they are lovable, spanking them when they're unruly and otherwise letting them alone.

There has been a wholesale shucking off of ideas about naps or schedule, the danger of taking baths too soon after meals, the importance of being hard-nosed when a pin might be sticking in the infant's tender flesh and the theory that kids are hot-house plants. Things have been much easier than they were in the heyday of baby books.

But until the International Institute of Child Psychiatry met in Toronto recently and listened to some of its principal speakers, there was no real authority behind the credo that children should be cared for according to the day-by-day experience of their own fathers and mothers.

There is a time to fetch them a lullaby on the side of their hard little noggin, and it won't be found in the index of a book. There is a time to cuddle them close like kittens—and that won't be in a book either. There are times for laughter and times for grumpiness, times for confusion and times for silence.

It's not in a book. It's in the head and heart. When the child psychologists begin to admit it, it must be true. The Baby Book Formula is on its last legs, tottering after the Grandma Formula into oblivion. The new formula will be called the Natural formula, always best in the long run.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

How Wrong Can They Get?

Soviet Russia, according to latest dispatches, is renewing its fight on religion, again determined to crush belief in a Supreme Being. This will ultimately stop the Communist march more certainly than any atomic bombs. The prophets and the saints need no U. N. The disciples can never lose a war, hot or cold. Anybody who tries to partition the faith of human beings is tackling the impossible.

"The Lord is my Shepherd" will always mean more than "My dictator is hot stuff." He leadeth me beside still waters" will always give mankind more confidence than "The premier is out with a new twenty-year plan." And no promise or pronouncement of any governmental wonder boys anywhere will seem as safe to tie to as "Thy rod and Thy staff, they comfort me." The Kremlin is off its rocker if it thinks any 38th Parallel can be established between human beings and their right to commune with whatever God their faith has blessed them with.

Through the ages man has worshiped a Supreme Being. His faith has been his greatest solace in heavy going. When any ruler starts playing rough with him in this respect he is taking the losing end. The dictator who closes churches, sneers at the praying populace and makes it dangerous to kneel at an altar railing is going off the deep end, and the Free World may be getting its best break if the Soviet Union tries to throw an iron curtain between man and his God, and orders its people to scorn the soul-refreshing peace of the chapel and cathedral.

The more Russia fights religion, the less her chance for survival. People are pretty much alike down deep inside, regardless of nationality, climate, location, programs, speeches and ideologies. The prayer that gives comfort to a mother anywhere else gives comfort to her, in Russia.

In the shadows cast by the flickering light of cathedral candles a Moscow family sees the holy figures seen by a family in Wappingers Falls or Chillicothe.

The heart of a Russian man or woman is no less moved by the great hymns of their faith than is the heart of men and women all over the earth. Ivan Petrovich is made of the same stuff as John Jones.

Malenkov can decide a prayer book or a string of Rosary beads but he has nothing in his program capable of giving people as much hope and peace. He can scoff at the sign of the Cross but the hammer and sickle will, in the long run, never come even close.

The Soviet new drive against religion is being concentrated on youth. This may get somewhere at first, but the kids will, in time, sense what is missing from their lives, and it won't be a review in Red Square.

When trial and tribulation come they will seek the comfort that comes through the Bible, the house or worship and the teachings of their forefathers.

The shell of the Easter dawn, the glory of Christmas Eve, the music of the chapel bells, the lips of a mother moving in prayer and the matchless chronicles of the old and new testaments will always have the edicts of dictators licked to a frazzle in the final returns. Faith is too permanent for the veto.

The Russian "walkout" on "I am the Lord thy God" will be unavailing. You can't sabotage the Sermon on the Mount. And what's sillier than a conspiracy against the Ten Commandments, or man's right to worship his own God in his own way?

Health winners were Franklin Gail of RD, Hanoverton and Carol Huston.

Woman Killed When Startled By Auto

RUTLAND, Vt. (AP)—Mrs. Daniel Bruton was killed last night when, police said, she became startled by a runaway automobile.

Police said that when she saw the driverless auto zigzag down hilly Washington Street she leaped from the car in which she was riding and landed on her head.

The driverless auto struck the car in which she was sitting and caromed into another car but none of the four persons in the cars was injured.

Quick supper dish: Broil scallops and serve topped with crisp bacon. Add baked potatoes, a green salad and crusty rolls to the menu.

Mr., Mrs. Louis C. Ospeck On 2-Week Bermuda Honeymoon

After a two-week honeymoon in Bermuda, Louis C. Ospeck will bring his bride, the former Miss Margaret L. Palatas of Struthers to Salem, where they will make their home.

The couple were married this morning in St. Nicholas Church in Struthers. The 10 o'clock Nuptial Mass was sung by the St. Nicholas Men's Choir, with William Mathews presiding at the organ. Rev. Robert C. Fannon officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Palatas of Struthers are the parents of the bride; the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anton E. Ospeck of 837 Arch St.

The bride wore a white ballerina gown of imported Chantilly lace styled with a molded bodice, a pearl studded portrait neckline, long pointed sleeves and a bouffant skirt with ruffle trim. Her three-tiered veil of French illusion was attached to an orange blossom and seed pearl crown. She wore a single strand of pearls and carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis.

Miss Jeanne Palatas, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a ballerina length gown of aqua nylon tulle with portrait neckline. Her bouquet of pastel orchids and stephanotis resembled the bride's bouquet.

The bridesmaid, Miss Gertrude Butera, a college classmate, was groomed in a ballerina length pale yellow nylon tulle with portrait neckline. She also carried a cascade bouquet of pastel orchids. Both Miss Palatas and Miss Butera wore headpieces fashioned like crowns, and their mitts and shoes matched their gowns.

Earl Ahrens of Cleveland served his brother-in-law as best man. Dr. Charles Jarowski of Massapiqua, N.Y., Dr. George Mueller of Park Ridge, Ill., and Ralph Black of Salem, all brothers-in-law of the bridegroom, ushered with the bride's brothers, Joseph C. Palatas and Captain Michael V. Palatas, U.S.M.C., Washington, D.C.

Following the ceremony, 200 guests attended the reception at Colony House on the Youngstown-Poland Road.

The bride, who attended Youngstown College, was formerly on the staff of The Bulletin of Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company.

Her husband, a graduate of Case Institute of Technology, also attended Youngstown College. He was a lieutenant in the Navy during World War II in the Pacific Theater of operations. Mr. Ospeck is a registered professional engineer with the Deming Company.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Barclay of Toledo, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Burnett of Berea, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Ursu of Cleveland, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Jarowski and family of Massapiqua, N.Y.; Dr. and Mrs. George Mueller and family of Park Ridge, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ahrens and family of Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Skallerup of Oak Park, Ill., Commander and Mrs. Robert W. Hodge and family of New York, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Michael Palatas of Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hatcher, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Ducko Sr., and Mrs. and Mrs. Michael Ducko Jr. of Clairton, Pa., and Mrs. John Ducko and daughters of Homestead, Pa.

Rev. and Mrs. George Wilson and children, Bruce, Wendy, Rocky and Candy, visited with Salem friends Wednesday. Rev. Wilson, former pastor of the Presbyterian Church here, is pastor of the Mercer Presbyterian Church.

Mary Mercer of the Albany Rd. is a delegate to the Westminister Assembly of the Synod of Ohio at Camp Presmont, Piedmont. Mary is stated clerk of the Mahoning Presbytery Westminister Fellowship and one of five representatives from this Presbytery.

Rev. and Mrs. A. Laten Carter of E. 6th St. and their family witnessed the Festival of Faith in Chicago at the opening of the second assembly of the World Council of Churches in soldier's field.

Jack Kelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Kelly of Tolerton Lane, and three other students at Cleveland Bible College, are in Cuba going missionary work.

Nick Buta, Jr. of 1419 N. Ellsworth Ave. is spending this week as a counselor with the bike tour sponsored by the Niles Junior Chamber of Commerce. The boys from Niles and neighboring towns cycled to Presque Isle and Walden Park in Erie, Pa.

Miss Barbara Patterson of S. Lincoln Ave. will enter Colby Junior College, New London, N.H., Sept. 17. Miss Patterson, the daughter of Mrs. B. K. Patterson, is a graduate of Salem High School, where she was a member of the French and Latin clubs and of the Salem Aquatics. She will study medical technology at Colby.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sanders and daughter, Elaine, have returned home from a trip to Florida.

The Berean Class of the First Friends Church enjoyed an outing Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Allen of Cleveland, former class members.

Traveling by chartered bus, the group of 48 left at 5:30 from the church.

After an attractive buffet-style lunch at the Allen home, the class went on a boat trip.

The next meeting will be Aug. 26.

Steer-Schroeder Nuptials Held In Damascus Friends Church

Damascus Friends Church was the scene of the wedding Friday evening when Miss Helen Steer of Damascus became the bride of George Schroeder of London, Ontario, Canada.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Steer of Damascus, and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Schroeder, of Steinbach, Manitoba, Canada.

Rev. Robert Mosher, pastor of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony, which was preceded by an organ prelude of sacred music by Miss Carolyn McPherson of Damascus.

Milford Landwert of Salem sang "Saviour Like a Shepherd Lead Us," "Oh Perfect Love," and "Lord Bless This Hour." The traditional wedding marches were played by Miss McPherson.

A background of palms and ferns was enhanced with an arrangement of white gladioli and candelabra with white tapers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown designed with a fitted bodice with mandarin collar, and her sleeves tapered to a point at the wrist. Her skirt of marquisette over satin, fashioned with a lace panel in front, was complete with train.

A Juliet cap held in place her fingertip veil, and she carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis and white roses.

The brides sister, Mrs. Kenneth Cobbs of Damascus, was matron of honor. Another sister, Mrs. Roy Dunn of Beloit, and the bridegroom's sister, Miss Sally Schroeder of Steinbach, were bridesmaids.

The attendants wore gowns of net over taffeta with lace boleros, and they carried cascade bouquets. Mrs. Cobbs was dressed in Nile green and the bridesmaids wore maize colored gowns.

Carol Cobbs, niece of the bride, was flower girl. Her floor-length dress of Nile green taffeta was styled with a bouffant skirt. Allen Dunn, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer.

Benjamin Harder of London, Ontario, was best man. Ushers were

William E. Ward III Takes Beaufort, S. C. Girl As Bride

A Salem man, William Edward Ward III, and a Beaufort, S.C. girl, Miss Elizabeth Hendricks House, pledged their vows in a beautiful-ly-appointed service presided over by Rev. James P. Dees Wednesday, Aug. 11 in the sanctuary of St. Paul Episcopal Church in Beaufort.

Mr. Ward is the son of Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Ward Jr. of the Lisbon Road, and his bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph House of Beaufort.

Nuptial melodies were played by Theodore Webb of Plainfield, N.J. organist. Miss Barbara White of Greenville, S.C. was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was groomed in ivory imported satin, embroidered with an intricate pattern of pears. Made on princess lines, the deep collar at the oval neckline, was fashioned of rosepoint lace and the full skirt ended in a train. Her veil of heirloom rosepoint lace, applied on French illusion, was attached to a cloche of rosepoint lace with a band of pearlized orange blossoms. Arranged in cascade effect were the salmon-colored rosebuds in her bouquet.

Miss Letitia Ann House was her sister's maid of honor in a moss green tulle gown over green, designed with portrait neckline and bouffant skirt with a full bow at the back. Her bandeau of tulle was gathered with velvet flowers. She wore long white gloves and carried white Fugui chrysanthemums.

Carrying flowers identical with the maid of honor were the three bridesmaids, Miss Pattee Schirm of Savannah, Ga., Miss Joan Pyler of Raleigh, Miss Leo McCormick of Columbus, Ga., and Miss Nancy Russell of Beaufort.

Flower girls were Miss Theresa Gilkey House and Miss Joanna Beth House of Grifton, S.C. Their gowns were patterned after those worn by the older girls and rose petals filled the white satin baskets they carried.

Mr. Ward chose Everett McKibben of Bowden, Ga., for his best man. Ushers were Dr. C. G. Bookhout of Durham, N.C., A. Carter Broad of Beaufort, and Joseph House Jr. of Grifton, and John Hendricks House of Charlotte, brothers of the bride.

The mother of the bride was groomed in pale pink lace over tulle. She wore a bandeau of lace and a white orchid. Mrs. Ward wore a porcelain blue nylon chiffon gown with matching bandeau and a wrist corsage of lilies of the valley.

At the reception, the wedding party greeted the guests at the Atlantic Beach Hotel, after which Mr. and Mrs. Ward left on a trip to Canada.

For traveling the bride changed to a dress of silk English print with beige accessories.

Mrs. Ward attended St. Mary's Junior College and the University of Georgia where she was a member of Chi Omega social sorority.

Mr. Ward was graduated with a bachelor of arts degree from Ohio University in 1950 where he was a member of Pi Kappa Alpha social fraternity and Scabbard and Blade, National honorary military fraternity. He received his master of arts degree from Duke University in 1952 and is now dean of men and professor of biology at West Ga., where the couple will reside after Sept. 12.

Mr. Ward chose Everett McKibben of Bowden, Ga., for his best man. Ushers were Dr. C. G. Bookhout of Durham, N.C., A. Carter Broad of Beaufort, and Joseph House Jr. of Grifton, and John Hendricks House of Charlotte, brothers of the bride.

The mother of the bride was groomed in pale pink lace over tulle. She wore a bandeau of lace and a white orchid. Mrs. Ward wore a porcelain blue nylon chiffon gown with matching bandeau and a wrist corsage of lilies of the valley.

At the reception, the wedding party greeted the guests at the Atlantic Beach Hotel, after which Mr. and Mrs. Ward left on a trip to Canada.

For traveling the bride changed to a dress of silk English print with beige accessories.

Mrs. Ward attended St. Mary's Junior College and the University of Georgia where she was a member of Chi Omega social sorority.

Mr. Ward was graduated with a bachelor of arts degree from Ohio University in 1950 where he was a member of Pi Kappa Alpha social fraternity and Scabbard and Blade, National honorary military fraternity. He received his master of arts degree from Duke University in 1952 and is now dean of men and professor of biology at West Ga., where the couple will reside after Sept. 12.

Carrying flowers identical with the maid of honor were the three bridesmaids, Miss Pattee Schirm of Savannah, Ga., Miss Joan Pyler of Raleigh, Miss Leo McCormick of Columbus, Ga., and Miss Nancy Russell of Beaufort.

Flower girls were Miss Theresa Gilkey House and Miss Joanna Beth House of Grifton, S.C. Their gowns were patterned after those worn by the older girls and rose petals filled the white satin baskets they carried.

Butler Missionary Group Has Meeting

The Thursday meeting of the Butler Missionary Society of the First Friends Church at the home of Mrs. Walter Shallenberg of the Pigeon Road was opened with a prayer by the president, Mrs. Sylvester Jackson.

Mrs. Bert Whitton, who gave the devotion, read part of the 40th Psalm, and prayers were given by Mrs. Charles Ogen and Mrs. Hazel Starbuck.

At the business meeting, Mrs. Paul Webb and Mrs. Dessie Scullion were appointed delegates to the Ohio Yearly Meeting which will be held in Damascus.

Miss Mary Herbert was in charge of the program which included: article on World Council of Churches, read by Mrs. Shallenberg; poem, "Something That You Can Do," Mrs. Starbuck; article from "Tales Truly True" concerning the life story of Boniface, a missionary who lived 700 years ago.

Mrs. Scullion, co-hostess, assisted Mrs. Shallenberg when lunch was served.

The meeting closed with the mizpah benediction.

The group will meet again Sept. 16.

PICNIC HELD AT PARK

The East Goshen Friends Church picnic was held at Centennial Park Wednesday. After the coverish picnic, the children were entertained by records and a view master provided by Mrs. Clyde Whitaker. Adults enjoyed a social evening.

Who Can Say—

he was never thrilled when the ball was smacked clear out of the park . . . or a forward pass was completed in the end zone . . . or a 30-foot putt dropped into the cup? America is a nation of sportsmen and sports fans. Almost from the day he can walk, a boy has a football tucked under his arm or a bat slung over his shoulder. This spirit of competition and fair play—it seems almost inborn—is our way of life. It makes Americans better people; it makes this country a better place to live in; it is typified by Little League Baseball.

The Salem JUNIOR BASEBALL PROGRAM

This special four-page section of today's Salem News is devoted entirely to all phases of Salem's popular Junior Baseball Program. The News' Sports Department, in developing this section, has a two-fold purpose in mind: (1) To acquaint local fans with the rules, background and organization of Salem's Little League program, and (2) to pay tribute to the American Legion, backers of the rapidly-expanding project, the progressive merchants, manufacturing plants and local unions which sponsor the program and the industrious adults who, voluntarily and unselfishly, make the program possible. It is all these people working together, who are making a wholesome contribution to our youth. Today we honor them.

The Salem Junior Baseball program consists of the Farm League, the Minor Little League, the Major Little League, the Pony League and the American Legion Junior Baseball team in the County League.

All of these leagues are sponsored in part by the American Legion, Charles H. Carey Post No. 56.

This Junior Baseball Section is sponsored in part by the same public-minded individuals and organizations which also back teams in the Minor Little League, the Major Little League, the Pony League and in American Legion Junior Baseball competition. They are:

Rapidly - Expanding LL Program Beneficial To Salem Youth

Teaches Youths Sportsmanship

Industrious Adults Make Program Tick

By SANDY HANSELL

"Anything that can keep 335 boys busy an entire summer certainly must be worthwhile."

These words, voiced by Russell Stallsmith, general manager of the "Major" Little Leagues, effectively capture the general feeling toward the popular and ever-growing Salem Little League baseball program.

Sponsored by the Charles H. Carey post of American Legion, the Little Leagues, which have expanded by leaps and bounds since the program was inaugurated here four years ago, encompass 22 teams, 335 players and approximately 75 adults. In addition there is now a four-team Little League in the United Local School District.

Little Leagues are gradually becoming one of the favorite spectator sports in this area; and a recent edition of a national news magazine stated that more fans will attend Little League games this season than will see all Major League baseball contests combined.

The program in Salem offers all youngsters, from 7½ through 17 years of age, an opportunity of learning first-hand the values of sportsmanship, cooperation, team play and a most important lesson for later life, how to live with both victory and defeat.

Halts Juvenile Delinquency — And, as the famous late sports-writer Grantland Rice put it, "It is the best assault we can use against juvenile delinquency."

The Little Leagues, coupled with such other youth projects as the Centennial Park Swimming Pool, the Soap Box Derby, the new Memorial Building Youth Center and the school-sponsored and local independent athletic programs, give this city a youth recreational setup equal to or better than any other city in this area. The formula behind the success of Little Leagues is based on the work of adults whose only reward is the satisfaction of seeing kids playing baseball under nearly ideal conditions.

Little League baseball, like little else these days, does not depend on the tax dollar. Rather, it is purely a local undertaking by volunteer leaders who come forward, often at considerable personal sacrifice, to make the program possible.

There are over half a million boys in 47 states and in Alaska, Hawaii, the Philippines, Cuba, Panama, Puerto Rico and even South Korea participating. But in few communities is the program so complete as it is in Salem.

Any local prospective major leaguer, which is the oft-dreamed-of goal of many Little Leaguers, can receive 10 years of experience and instruction here, thanks to the American Legion, the 16 team sponsors and the public-minded people of Salem.

"The response of Salem people has been truly wonderful," John Herman, Little League president, said. He cited the overwhelming support shown the program through Tag Days, generous individual donations, the response from merchants and manufacturers to the call for team sponsors, and the gratifying turnout of volunteers to act as umpires, coaches, managers, scorers, and league officials.

Work Pushed On Zelley Field LL Diamonds

Salem Junior Baseball officials are currently engaged in an active building program at the Zelley well field behind Hope Cemetery.

One diamond already has been completed and it is hoped to construct a total of five suitable playing sites during the next few years. The new fields will release Centennial Park now used for Pony and Major Little League games, for other service.

The city has been very cooperative in the construction at Zelley Field, officials point out. City workmen, on their own time, have done much of the work and city officials have granted the use of city equipment for use in the project.

Pony League One Step Up From LL

Youths who have become too old to play in the Little Leagues advance into the Pony League. Its age limits are 13-15.

The dimensions of a Pony League field are about midway between those of a Little League diamond and a regulation field. Baselines are 75 feet, pitching distances are 32 feet and the recommended home-run distance is 250 feet.

The letters P-O-N-Y stand for "Protect Our Nations' Youth." One hundred-six leagues in 22 states and two Canadian provinces have been organized. This takes in 522 teams and over 10,000 boys.

Players Are Provided With Free Uniforms

All players in the Little Major League, the Pony League and Junior Legion competition are furnished with complete baseball uniforms at no expense to the boys.

All Little and Pony Leaguers wear tennis shoes instead of spikes. In the Minor loop, the boys wear colored T-shirts with regulation caps, socks and pants. Tennis shoes are also used in this league.

WORLD SERIES IN AUGUST

The Little Leagues hold their annual World Series in Williamsport, Pa., toward the end of every August. The United States Rubber Company foots the bill for entertaining the eight competing teams.

ELECTED PRESIDENT

Jack Norworth, composer of the famous, "Take Me Out to the Ball Game," was unanimously elected honorary president of the Laguna Beach, Calif., Little League.

Sponsors Foot LL Teams' Bills

Managers, Coaches Have Manifold Duties

The sponsor, manager and coaches of each Junior Baseball team have contributed immeasurably to the success of Little League program here.

The sponsor foots the bill for the team, buying bats and balls, paying the league entrance fee and supplying each player with an official baseball uniform.

Duties of the managers and coaches are not confined merely to the periods during which the teams are engaged in official games. The adults work with the Little Leaguers at numerous practice sessions, teaching the fundamentals of the game, improving techniques and offering encouragement and praise when special occasions arise.

In the Major Little League, teams are sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Mullins, Eljer, Sekelys, Fishers News, and Electric Furnace. Coaches and managers in the Major League are Al Catlos, Ralph Mancuso, Tony Everett, Tom Roser, James Jackson, John Delfavero, Eugene Tullis, Bob Jeffries, Robert Whitehill and Andrew Kelley.

In the Pony League, teams are sponsored by Bliss Local Union 3372, Aldoms Salem Diner, Mullins and CIO 3816 of Eljer. Managers and coaches in the Pony League are Warren E. Riesen, Lewis Brown, Ray Mercer, Orrie Wright, Pete Saunders, Paul Stallsmith and Henry Meissner.

In the Minor Little League, teams are sponsored by Mounts Furnace Co., Electric Furnace CIO 3406, Salem Drive-In Theater, Salem Concrete, Gordon Leather and the Disabled American Veterans.

Managers and coaches in the Minor League are Ray Mellinger, Fritz Morrison, Danny Ray, Vernon Isaacs, Allen Wright, Richard Saunders, Rinehart Noll, Fred Sweitzer, Don Fife, Carl Flitcraft, Jim Gow, David Linton and Dick Gottschling.

The Howard Firestone Electric Co. and the United Commercial Travelers, along with the Legion, sponsor the Junior Legion teams: A. B. Coombs manages the Junior Legion team, assisted by Wendell Church and Roland Hall.

Managers Select Minor All-Star 9

Minor Little League general manager Kenneth McClaskey has named the All-Star team which will tangle with a Minor League All-Star team from Waynesburg, Pa., as part of a double header Sunday, Aug. 22, at Centennial Park. The team managers selected the players.

A second Major League All-Star team, other than the one which represented Salem in the district eliminations, has been named to participate in the other half of the twin bill.

The Minor aggregation will be managed by Carl Flitcraft, with Allen Wright and David Linton as coaches.

Instructional Records Available Through LL

A national pharmaceutical concern has put out a set of "How To" phonograph records, with eight Major League players giving verbal instruction on how to play their respective positions.

George Kell, Bob Feller, Yogi Berra, Phil Rizzuto, Ned Garver, Richie Ashburn, Bobby Thompson, and Ralph Kiner voice their ideas on the recordings.

Little League headquarters in Williamsport, Pa., has information on how to obtain the records.

PITCHING IS LIMITED

A Little League pitcher may not pitch more than six full innings (18 outs) between Monday morning and Sunday night. The lone exceptions are in All-Star play and extra-inning games, where the limit for both is nine frames.

SPECIAL PROTECTION

Following a practice adopted by many professional stars, all Little League players are required to wear special caps with plastic headbands as a protection against "beanings."

PITCHES NO-HIT GAME

Aaron Swenningson, pitcher for Fishers in the Little Major League has pitched a no-hit and a one-hit game so far this season.

Herman Heads Program

Perhaps no one person has done more for Salem's Junior Baseball program than affable John Herman, Jr., (above) who serves as President and general chairman of the entire project.

Herman personally saw to it that the program was started here four years ago and has worked even harder as the years rolled by to insure its success.

Completely devoted to the Little League and youth in general, Herman is a tireless worker, spending countless hours working on the project the year around.

As one official put it, "Without John we would be lost. He makes the Little League tick."

LL Players, Officials Cite Program Benefits

No one can appreciate as much as those actively associated with it the outstanding values of Salem's Little League baseball program.

Following are a number of quotations from officials and players on the subject:

JOHN HERMAN, JR.

President, Salem Junior Baseball

"It's a lot of hard work, a lot of headaches to prepare these future citizens, but it's worth it. It gives all of us a satisfying feeling, even though the job is a time-consuming, tough one, to know that we're doing something worthwhile for these wonderful kids of ours."

GIBBY EVERHART

"The big thing we do is try to keep sportsmanship ahead of winning and losing."

RUSSELL STALLSMITH

General Manager, Major League

"The aim of our program is to teach these boys sportsmanship. Little Leagues are good for the kids; it keeps them busy and off the streets all summer."

AL CATLOS

Manager, Mullins

The most important benefits come from learning good Americanism and sportsmanship and as a weapon against juvenile delinquency. Little League baseball is scaled to correspond with the physical capabilities of the participants, thus reducing the chances of injury."

DEMPSY BAILEY

Manager, Sekelys

"The big thing in Little Leagues is that the boys get to make new friends, both on their own team and on opposing squads. Even we managers, parents and officials have made new acquaintances through this program."

ROBERT POTTER
Catcher, VFW

"Little League baseball teaches us kids to be graceful winners and good losers. It teaches us respect for authority and that decisions of umpires and coaches must stand. It gives us a chance to meet boys out of our own neighborhood."

DAVID HUNTER

Pitcher, VFW

"It teaches us to play our best whether we win or lose. We are learning to get along with our teammates. We are thankful for the interested men who are coaching us and helping us on our way. Who knows? Some day, one of us may be playing for the Cleveland Indians."

CHARLES HERTEL

Second baseman, Sekelys

"It teaches us sportsmanship. It's a clean sport and we are able to make new friends quickly. The managers and coaches are all swell to us. The boys think Little League is a good, worthwhile sport."

Little League baseball is, perhaps, best summed up by the words of National Little League President P. J. McGovern:

"The finest thing that ever happened to young America."

Jr. Baseball Organization Resembles That Of Big Leagues

Project Provides For Players From 7½ To 17 Years Of Age

The organization of Salem's Junior Baseball Leagues, although seemingly complicated, actually is very systematically arranged.

It is designed to provide for all boys from 7½ through 17 years of age. The organization expedites efficient handling of the youngsters and speeds promotion of worthy players to higher classifications. At the same time, it insures against younger boys having to battle players considerably older.

Actually, the setup here is very much like that in professional baseball.

The boys, from 7½ through approximately 9 years of age start out in the "Farm League," which is the beginners' class. The players are here taught the bare fundamentals of the game and are given their first preliminary instruction.

FROM THE FARM League, the boys advance by merit to the "Minor" Little League, where basic

After the age of 12, the boys enter the Pony League, and at 15, they advance into Junior League competition.

In some localities, such as near-by Washingtonville, for example, the Colt League for boys 15-17, accepts the graduates of the Pony League. The Pony League plays Monday and Thursday evenings at the upper Centennial Park diamond, the Major Leagues are carded Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights at the lower Centennial Park field and the Minor League is scheduled Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at Zelle Field.

Saunders, Mancuso Headed All-Star Teams

Pete Saunders and Ralph Mancuso were the managers of this year's Junior Baseball all-star teams.

Saunders headed the Pony League sectional champions, assisted by Henry Meissner, Paul Stalmsmith and Warren Riesen.

Mancuso led the Little League area finalists, aided by Dempsey Balsley and Al Catlos.

FARM LEAGUE—A farm league or beginner's class is held for the purpose of teaching the younger boys the fundamentals of the game. After mastering these fundamentals, many of the boys have quickly advanced up to the Little Minor and the Little Major Leagues in the Salem Junior Baseball chain. Above are, first row, (l. to r.) Bob Stackhouse, Clarence Stoffer, Dash Lippert, Steve Chentow, Ricky Canja, David Hartsough, Danny Frank, Mike Riley and Bryan McGee.

Second row: Bob Melitska, Joey Skrivaneck, Charles Manis, Bill Haught, Charles Kendrick, Donald Fendrick and Steve Sabol.

NEED BIRTH CERTIFICATES

All Little League ball-players must produce birth certificates before they are allowed to sign contracts.

PROHIBIT EXTRA GAMES

No Little League team is allowed to play an exhibition game or in a post-season inter-league tilt.

Major Little League, Pony Loop All-Stars Enjoy Outstanding Success In Past 2 Years

For the past two seasons, All-Star teams have been chosen from both the Major Little League and the Pony Loop. These squads are composed of the best personnel from all of the teams in the circuit, as selected by team managers and league officials.

All four of Salem's All-Star teams so far have enjoyed outstanding success.

Last year, the Little League won the area Championship and reached the finals of the Regional Tournament in Campbell before being eliminated.

This year, they reached the area finals before losing out. An injury to a star hurler was a big factor in that loss. Salem lost to the same Youngstown outfit both seasons.

The Pony League All-Stars met with tough luck last season when they drew the tough Warren team in the first game. Warren dropped Salem and then went on to reach the Pony League World Series in Williamsport, Pa.

This season, after winning the sectional crown, Salem was forced to battle the same Warren team, who again proved too tough. Salem lost out in two tilts in the best-of-three playoff to reach the Canton Regionals.

IN ADDITION, a second team of Little Major League All-Stars has been selected to battle Waynesburg, Pa., at Centennial Park Aug. 22. James Jackson, Gene Tullis and Bob Jeffries head this crew, which is entirely separate from the All-Star aggregation which played in the area eliminations.

The Waynesburg affair will be part of a double header which will also include games between Minor League All-Star teams from Waynesburg and Salem.

The visitors will be the guests of the American Legion and the Elks while in Salem.

Qualified Managers Screened By Legion

Each Junior Baseball team in Salem has one manager and at least one coach.

All of these qualified men are especially screened by a special American Legion committee. In their selections, the Legion stresses that the main objective of all Junior baseball officials, managers and coaches, is to teach good sportmanship, good leadership and good citizenship.

The winning of games must be secondary to all these men.

All-Star Squad Set For Waynesburg

A second Major Little League All-Star team has been selected to oppose a team of Waynesburg, Pa., All-Stars at Centennial Park Sunday, Aug. 22.

Only one man, hurler Paul Herman, also played on the All-Star team which participated in the area eliminations. James Jackson, Gene Tullis and Bob Jeffries will coach this squad.

The other players are: Aaron Sweeney, Bob Lambert, Tony Dahms, Harold Deitch, George Hendren, Dick Loudon, Don Wukotich, Paul Kendra, Dick Paulmit, John Hanna, Fred Phillips, Powell Schumacher, Jeff Roberts, Lou Slaby, Jim Dunn, Dick Early and Carl Dunn.

NO NIGHT GAMES

Little League games may not be played at night under artificial lighting.

Approximately 75 Adults Are Needed To Operate Program

John Herman Is LL President

Legion Committee Backbone Of Project

There are approximately 75 adults working fuely and efficiently to insure that Salem's Junior Baseball program functions smoothly.

Happy to have the opportunity of aiding the city's youth, they seldom complain about the long hours of toil, both on the field and off, that a project of this type requires.

Junior Baseball in Salem would never have reached the heights of popularity it enjoys today.

But Herman is the first to point out that he is only one cog in a well-oiled machine. There are dozens of others who fill important positions and without whom the program would be impossible.

Cornelius Csepke is vice president; Robert Whitehill, secretary; Wade Loop, treasurer; Hobart Butcher, finance officer and Harry Vincent, commissioner. Ed Bloor is general manager of the Pony Leagues, Russell Stallsmith is general manager of the Major Little Leagues; Kenneth McClaskey of the minor loops and George Reeder, of the farm group.

GIBBY EVERHART holds the post of umpire-in-chief in the Major Leagues. He is assisted by Steve Zatzko, Steve Fronius, Ernest Rutzky, Jr. and alternate Dave Kachner. Charles Huffer is umpire-in-chief of the Pony Loop, with James Garloch as assistant.

In the Minor Leagues, Everhart, Bob Jeffries, James Jackson and Bruce Cope serve as umpires. Mrs. James Jackson is the official scorer for the Major League and Bob Huffer is the scorekeeper in the Pony League.

Ed Bureaw is assistant general manager of the Pony League and official historian.

Francis Taubler is the players' agent, John Dupal is assistant general manager of the Little Leagues, and Sandy Hand-sell serves as publicity chairman.

Since Junior Baseball is a project of the Charles H. Carey Post 56 of the American Legion, a committee of Legion members is the backbone of the entire operation.

The Legion committee consists of Simon Peer, Dave Kachner, Vernon Isaacs, Gibby Everhart, Ralph Mancuso, Steve Fronius, Steve Zatzko, Dick Kilbreath, Bob

Jr. Baseball Program Grows After Slow Start Here In 1951

The sprawling Salem Junior Baseball program today, in which 335 boys comprising 22 teams participate, is a far cry from the organization established in 1951.

During the summer of that year, the project started as the American Legion Midget League with three teams from Salem, totaling only 45 boys, joining one team from Guilford to comprise the circuit.

The Salem Charles Cary Legion post sponsored the three Salem teams and Harry Hannah of Hannah's Grocery sponsored the Guilford team. Wendell Church managed the Guilford team, Charles Huffer, one Salem outfit and Mr. and Mrs. John Herman handled the other two outfits.

The following year, a Little League franchise was granted to Salem and four Major League and four Minor League teams were fielded.

Last year, the first really big year in this area, six major, four minor, four Pony, and four farm teams were organized.

The Legion had to get a franchise before it was able to open the Pony League.

THIS SEASON, the program expanded to take in two more Minor League teams, a second Junior Legion outfit, the Washingtonville Colt League team and the new United Local District Little League.

There are now four farm teams, six minor league, six major, four Pony and two Junior Legion teams in Salem. Counting the outlying districts, there is a total of 27 Junior Baseball outfits in this area with 440 boys participating.

Next season, officials expect the program to grow even more, with the probable addition of two Pony League teams and the possible creation of new squads in other classifications.

15 ON EACH SQUAD

Most Junior Baseball teams have 15 men on each squad.

Complex, Precautionary Rules Govern Little League Games

A complicated set of rules, adopted by officials to prevent injury or trouble of any kind, governs every Little League contest.

The rules cover all aspects from the size of the playing area to the amount of innings per week a pitcher can hurl.

Little League procedure gives every youngster a fair chance of making the team and each manager an equally fair opportunity of obtaining desirable talent.

Early in the season, general tryouts are held and coaches jot down the names of preferred players. Then all the boys' names are put on a players' list and an auction takes place. Each coach is allowed 10,000 points which he may use for bidding on players he wants.

Once points are used up, coaches are at least four hurlers a week must be forced into action for each team.

A Little League field is patterned after that in a Major League stadium. Its dimensions, however, are two thirds the size of a professional playing field.

AGE RESTRICTION SET—No Little League team can have more than five 12-year-olds nor less than five players 10-years of age or under.

Junior Legion Team Second In County

The Salem Junior Legion team was runnerup in the county this season.

After compiling a 2-7 record during the regular season, the locals split even in four games during the double-elimination county tournament to end up in the runner-up slot.

A. B. Coombs manages the team with coaches Wendell Church and Roland Hall.

The players include: Matt Klein, Fred Ziegler, Homer Lau, Lowell Hoffmaster, Jerry Cosgrove, Eugene Stallsmith, Dave Hanna, Jim Fife, Keith L. Flaud, Jon Ehrhart, Bob Faulkner, Bob Early, Dick Doyle, Jan Shears, and Gary Painchaud.

2 Mottos Keynote Baseball Program

The Salem Junior baseball program is operated under two mottos, which serve as a constant reminder to the boys and adults of the purpose of Little League baseball.

The boys play their games under the motto, "A winner is a good loser."

And the adults bear this idea in mind: "Keep the boys busy and we will never have delinquent youth."

Congratulations

Bobo Olson Retains Title, Batters Castellani In TV Bout

Both Men Floored In Dramatic Fight; Rocky Fractures Hand; Both Pocket About $125,000

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson retained the kinglypin of the world's 160-pound division today after having turned back the threat of the nation's top challenger, Rocky Castellani of Cleveland.

Eljer CIO 3816 Beats Diner 7-2

Second Contest Scheduled Today

In the first round of a best-of-three playoff series for the Pony League championship, Eljer CIO 3816 beat Aldom's Diner 7-2 at Centennial Park Friday. The second game will be played today.

These two teams tied for the first round title and, in a round playoff Thursday night, CIO again was the winner. Aldom's easily won second half honors to force the championship eliminations.

CIO 3816 won the game yesterday in the second inning with a five-run outburst, highlighted by Dick Beall's bases-loaded triple. Beal was also the winning hurler, limiting Diner to six safeties.

Bob Stallsmith took his first defeat of the season as a Diner pitcher after winning five in a row. Ken Beall of the winners and Jerry Hendricks of Diner each had two hits.

Lani Waiwaiolo, Eljer catcher, came up with the defensive play of the game, grabbing a fly popup with one hand as he crashed into the backstop.

Conneaut Tops Deming 4 To 0 In Tournament

Salem's list of representatives in the District 13 tournament at Chardon was cut to one last night as Deming's was eliminated by Conneaut 4-0.

Bliss, the Columbiana County champ, is now Salem's only flag bearer. If Bliss wins its 7 p.m. tilt tonight, it will advance into Sunday's semi-finals. The finals are also slated for tomorrow and the tournament will then move on to the state softball finals at Toledo.

Last night, Conneaut outbait Deming only four to three but made all of its safeties count. Deming could not put its hits together to score.

Dave Ehrhart was the losing pitcher.

vised battle that was spirited, if not spectacular, and highly dramatic in at least six minutes of the struggle.

Olson is richer by $125,000, his guarantee from Castellani's manager, Al Naiman.

The 26-year-old native of Honolulu said he plans to continue fighting in the middleweight ranks despite the trouble he had making the weight limit.

Castellani, defeated for only the sixth time in 63 fights, had a date with a doctor this morning. Dr. A. Lastretti, physician for the State Athletic Commission, said Rocky fractured a bone in his left hand.

Presumably the mishap occurred in the second round when Bobo caught one of Rocky's swings on his elbow. The break was never evident to the crowd because Rocky kept throwing leather whether he landed or not.

Highlights of the fight were packed in the 11th and 12th rounds. As they came out for the 11th Rocky let fly with a right and before anyone realized it, the startled champion was sitting on the seat of his pants. Rocky tripped over Olson's leg and his glove touched the canvas, but he was up immediately.

Bobo scrambled as quickly as he could to his feet, which required a three-count, and proceeded to give Rocky all he could handle for the rest of the hour.

Bobo claimed later that their feet got tangled up and he was caught and hit off balance.

In the 12th Bobo applied a Crusher. A long overhand right found Rocky's jaw and sent him crashing to the canvas.

The game Rocky needed and took a nine-count, and to his credit, fought out the round like a wounded tiger. But his hopes faded from that point on.

The unanimous verdict was automatic. Referee Ray Flores called it 89-76 under California's 11 points per round scoring system. Judge Fred Apostoli had it 85-80 and Judge Jack Downey scored 87½-77½. The AP made it 89½-75½.

Both fighters weighed in at 160. The gate was $121,470; TV rights, $100,000.

Castellani's share was 60 percent of the net gate and TV money, or slightly under Olson's $125,000.

Browns-Green Bay To Play Exhibition

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—The Cleveland Browns play the Green Bay Packers tonight in the opener of a five-game exhibition schedule in which the Browns' newcomers must prove their mettle.

Cleveland now has 40 players on its roster, and seven of them will be cut before the National Football League season opens. Who gets to stay depends on how the rookies perform in the practice games. The roster already is 15 smaller than it was when the Browns started training a month ago.

The Browns have 23 veterans back from the team which won its eighth straight division championship last season. Among them are the club's "five founding fathers," who were in Coach Paul Brown's first professional football club in 1946—quarterback Otto Graham, end Dante Lavelli, tackle Lou Groda, center Frank Gatski, and fullback Marlon Motley.

The drag punt is a slowly hit ball between first base and the pitcher's box, designed to confuse those two players plus the second baseman.

FOOTBALL RETURNS—Well over 70 candidates answered Salem High School football coach Ben Barrett's initial call for the forthcoming season yesterday.

The boys were issued uniforms, assigned lockers and given physical examinations. The first practice session will begin at 9 a.m. Monday, Barrett said. The local mentor is inaugurating his 12th season at the helm of the locals.

In the photo above, head manager Jerry Yunk is issuing a uniform to Bob Hartzell while Tom Harp records the issue.

The Quakers' first game is listed for Sept. 17 with Conneaut.

Field of Fifty Cars Expected At Sharon

A field of at least 50 cars and drivers of NASCAR is expected to race in the special 100-lap, 50-mile sportsman division stock car race Sunday afternoon at Sharon Speedway. The program will begin at 1 p.m. with time trials. Race time is 2:30. Four other events will make up the big special program.

The rain date for the big race will be Sunday, Aug. 29. Promoter Jim Novak has cancelled his regular program of stock car racing tonight to give drivers time to gear their machines for the big special event tomorrow.

Tomorrow's field of cars will include the leading NASCAR drivers including Steve Lesick, Salem, O., who is the point leader of both Ohio and Pennsylvania; Gene Simpson of Sharon; George Sember of Sharpville; Eddie Slinger of Akron; Johnny McGinley of Chicora, Pa.; Dick Bailey of Grove City, John Spadin of Sharon and Tom Betts of Kinsman among others. All seats will be general admission.

Sharon Speedway is located in Hartford, O. on Routes 7 & 305.

Softball Playoffs Scheduled To Begin

Barring postponements, the playoffs in the city softball leagues will begin Aug. 30 or 31, manager Ward Zeller said this morning.

If there is a tie for any of the top four positions in any of the leagues, one game playoffs will be scheduled.

Once the positions are determined, the final playoffs will begin with the third and fourth place squads participating in a best-of-three elimination. The winners will then battle the second place team with that victor moving up to play the first place outfit.

Gotschall, Haschen Pace A Hitters

Bill Gotschall and Herb Haschen paced the Class B softball league in batting this season, official scorer Bill Schuster announced today.

Gotschall of Stratton's led the league among batters who appeared at the plate 30 or more times during the season with a .429 average. Haschen of Bloomberg's hit .400.

Both men batted 35 times, but Gotschall had one more hit than Haschen, 15 to 14, to take the title.

The regular season champions, Stratton's, placed five men among the top 10 batters.

Stratton's won 19 of 20 games to win the crown. Bloomberg's finished with a 10-10 slate and Sidingers stood at 9-11. Two other teams, the Presbyterians and DeMolay, started the year but dropped out during the campaign.

The top 10 men and their averages are: Gotschall (Stratton's) .429; Haschen (Bloomberg's) .400; Bricker (Stratton's) .351; Probert (Sidingers) .349; Sidinger (Sidingers) .348; Menichelli (Bloomberg's) .341; Bayless (Stratton's) and Brunner (Stratton's) .333; Sobek (Sidingers) .325 and Hoffmaster (Stratton's) .319.

LL All-Star Games Set Here Sunday

Two Little League All-Star games will be played at Centennial Park Sunday afternoon, starting at 1:30 and 2:45 p.m.

The Salem Minor League All-Stars will meet the Waynesburg, Pa., Minor League Stars in the first game and a Major League All-Star game between teams of the two cities will be played at the nightcap.

The Waynesburg Major League All-Stars are county champions.

Last year, two Salem teams made the trip to Waynesburg and the two cities split the doubled-header.

A former Waynesburg star athlete, Pete Ullom, manager of the Quaker City Bus lines, was instrumental in arranging the series which may become an annual affair.

The Charles Carey post of the American Legion will fete the visitors at lunch tomorrow, and the Salem Elks will treat them to an evening meal.

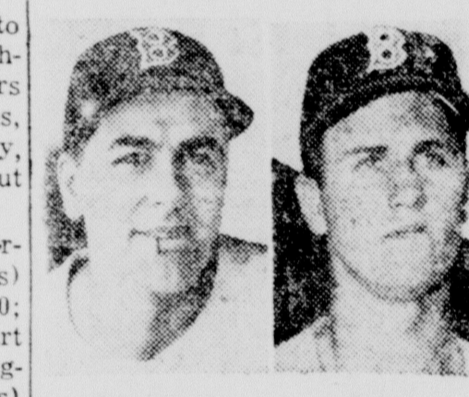

The American Legion committee for the affair is composed of John Herman, Jr., Clifford Whinnery, Vernon Isaacs, Danny Ray, Verner Rice and Pete Ullom. The Elks committee is Robert Paxson and William Blount.

Nixon Only Hurler To Beat Yankees 4 Times In 1954

BOSTON (AP)—Red Sox right-hander Willard Nixon, a fiery-tempered fellow with a flare for whipping the world champion New York Yankees, stood alone today as the only hurler to defeat the Yanks four times this season.

He yielded only four hits and banded in the winning run with a two-out double against rookie Bob Grim last night for a 4-3 victory that snapped the Yankees' 10-game winning streak.

The 26-year-old husky pitcher was really "up" for the game.

Boudreau Nixon

One of his biggest handicaps in baseball has been his penchant for blowing his top when his control goes out of whack.

He has made great strides in curbing his temper and his 9-10 mark in 1954 is a big improvement over his 4-8 record of last year.

But Manager Lou Boudreau, a master psychologist, perhaps decided a touch of the needle might be just what Nixon needed recently after falling for the fifth time to notch his ninth victory.

Boudreau hinted rather broadly to sports writers that maybe Willard needed a little rest—maybe his stuff was slipping away from him.

That did it. Nixon took a slow burn and let it be known that Boudreau was talking through his hat.

So, last night, with the red-hot Yanks after their 11th straight, Nixon got the starting call.

And he ran his season's mark against New York to 4-0, striking out five and walking only one.

Nixon had to give way to Sid Hudson after suffering a bad shaking up while trying unsuccessfully to stretch his eighth-inning, game-winning double into a triple. He landed heavily on his head and shoulder, twisting his neck, in a frantic lunge for third base. He somersaulted right over the bag and was tagged for the third out.

But he kept his perfect record intact against the champions and wasn't injured seriously.

Lisbon Defeated By Mullins 2-1

Beloit, Amvets Win Girls League Games

Two tight pitchers' battles and one slugfest were recorded in city softball action at Kelley Field Friday when Mullins nipped Lisbon 2-1 and, in Girls' play, Beloit shaded Georgetown 3-2 and the Amvets slugged Homeworth 12-4.

Last night's action ended the regular season in the Girls' loop. Only one regular season game remains, but it could not alter the team standings and may not be played. The first four teams, Georgetown, Red Caps, Beloit and Amvets, will begin a playoff for the title in about a week.

Mullins 2, Lisbon 1

Johnny McQuiston topped Andy Cartwright in an "AA" duel. McQuiston allowed only three hits and Cartwright, four.

Mullins scored in the first inning when Red Hall's sacrifice fly sent Jack Milligan home. Lisbon tied it in the fourth on hits by Joe Siefke and Andy McDevitt and Bob Matix' sacrifice fly.

The Manufacturers won the game in the fifth when, with two out, Milligan drew a walk and Joe Hrovatic and Gene Dean hit safely.

Beloit 3, Georgetown 2

The winners rallied for all three of their runs in the last half of the seventh inning to nip the league champions.

Georgetown scored first on Bradley's walk and Carol Odey's single. Neither team scored again for five innings. In the top of the seventh, Georgetown increased its lead to 2-0 when Hoopes' hit scored Bradley.

Beloit won the game in the bottom of the seventh as two errors and singles by Peg Griener, Pat Sanders and Sue Schwartzhoff netted the necessary three runs.

Miss Hoopes of Georgetown and Miss Sanders of Beloit each registered a pair of hits to pace the batting.

Amvets 12, Homeworth 4

Six extra base blows and a total of 14 hits were too much for Homeworth as the Amvets scored consistently throughout the game.

The winners notched five tallies in the second inning and coasted home.

Winning hurler Helen Yeager gave up nine widely-scattered hits and struck out four batters. She also paced the hitting with two singles and a double. Virginia Cox, Connie Gilett, Janet Reeder and Shirley Provins each contributed two hits.

Wagner slammed three singles to pace the losers.

Williamsport To Play Host To LL World Series Tuesday As Eight Squads Participate

The Little League World Series, which annually send the quiet Pennsylvania city of Williamsport onto a baseball binge, will hold the spotlight Tuesday through Saturday.

Normally, youngsters in the 8 to 12-year-old bracket cause a commotion any place, but the 120 Little Leaguers who move in for the World Series of small-fry baseball figure to completely disrupt Williamsport.

The eight regional winners, encompassing every section of the United States and part of Canada, will generate all-time high interest in this seventh World Series held by the Little League.

With a record 3500 teams and over 500,000 youngsters engaged in the Little League program this year the World Series has become a bigger item than ever before.

THE THREE PLAYING dates this time should draw over 40,000 spectators and will reach far more than that via network radio and television. Mel Allen will handle the announcing.

"This is our idea of a bona-fide answer to juvenile delinquency," says Pete McGovern, Little League president.

What he also could point out is the success of a strapping ex-Little Leaguer from Connecticut, 18-year-old Joey Jay, now a bonus hurler for the Milwaukee Braves.

THE EIGHT TEAMS, comprised of 15 youngsters each, made Williamsport after regional playoffs. The personnel for each regional team is an All-Star aggregation picked from the individual league in which the youngsters played throughout the season. Once chosen, they were sent against similar teams in their own region for the right to make the trip to Williamsport.

The eight regions which will be represented in the Series are: New England; New York and Canada; Pennsylvania; the Midwest; the Pacific Coast; the Southwest; the Southeast, and the Atlantic Seaboard.

The regional winners are flown to Williamsport and housed at Locomotive College during the Series.

The Little Leaguers aren't the only baseball people who turn up for the Series. The Locomotive Hotel lobby each year looks like a baseball convention headquarters.

"THE BASEBALL PEOPLE who come in for the Series jam the town," Bob Stirrat, LL promotion director points out. "We expect almost 1000 of them and they come from every part of the country. You see former stars like Lefty Gomez or Ty Cobb or Rogers Hornsby walking around. Then you have people like Walter O'Malley, the Brooklyn president, and Connie Mack of the Athletics."

To win the title, a team must get through three contests. The games are played in the picturesque Little League stadium in Williamsport and a touch of old-line sandlot play enters the Series when finances are mentioned. There is no admission to the Series, but the boys pass the hat to gain revenue.

VFW Clips Fisher's To Win LL Crown

VFW is the new Little Major League champion. That was decided Friday night at Centennial Park when VFW edged Fisher's 10-7 in the third and final game of their championship play-off before one of the largest crowds of the season.

VFW previously had won the first round title while Fisher's copped second half laurels. In the best-of-three play-off for the crown, VFW won the first game and Fisher's triumphed Thursday evening.

Last night, the victors utilized 14 hits and two Fisher errors to score six runs in the second inning, followed by a pair of two-tally frames to win the pennant.

Fisher's got off to an early 3-0 lead in the first inning, which lasted only until the big VFW second put the champs ahead 6-3. However, Fisher's tied the score in its half of the second at 6-all. In the fourth, VFW countered

Beall, Brown Lead PL Hitters; Stallsmith, Covert Top Hurlers

Dick Beall, Larry Brown, Hayes Covert and Bob Stallsmith led the Pony League in batting and pitching this season, Bob Huffer, official scorer, announced this morning.

Tom Ehrhart Tops Class A Sluggers

Tom Ehrhart is leading the Class A league in just about every hitting department, figures released today by official scorekeeper Dave Briskin reveal.

The Parkers slugger is pacing the loop in batting (.418), hits (23), doubles (5) and homers (5). The only categories in which Ehrhart is not high are runs where Sammy Tingle of Leetonia leads with 23 and triples where Bell of Leetonia and Kelley of Goshen Grange are tops with three each.

Somebody must have forgotten to tell the Chicago White Sox they are out of the American League pennant race.

The gogo boys are back in high gear with a five-game winning streak and breezing as if they thought they still had a chance.

Mathematically, they're right. The figures show the Sox still could overhaul both the second-place New York Yankees and the league-leading Cleveland Indians. They are five games behind New York, 8½ back of Cleveland. But the chances are remote.

The White Sox's recent record, however, shows eight victories in their last 10 starts and a highly respectable 642 percentage. That's a better average than any White Sox team has attained since 1917 and would have beaten the Yankees out of the pennant in four of the last five seasons.

Two of the team's brightest stars sparkled in last night's 8-2 victory at Detroit.

Virgil Trucks struck out six and scattered nine hits in becoming the first American League pitcher to win 18 games. Minnie Minoso moved within five points of the league batting lead with a run-scoring triple that raised his average to .331.

Cleveland defeated Baltimore 7-2 and gained a full game on the Yankees whose 10-game winning streak was ended by Willard Nixon and the Boston Red Sox 4-3. Nixon is the first pitcher to beat New York four times this season.

Milwaukee slipped another full length behind New York and Brooklyn in the National League. The Braves were beaten for the third time in four games, 3-1 by Chicago. New York defeated Pittsburgh 4-0 and Brooklyn whipped Philadelphia 6-4. The Giants lead the Dodgers by two games and Milwaukee by 6½, pending today's action.

Cincinnati took over fourth place in the National League by shading St. Louis 3-2 despite six double plays by the Cardinals. Philadelphia and Washington in the American League were rained out.

Nixon, skipped over in a Red Sox series in New York last weekend, won his own game in Boston with an eighth inning double that drove in the winning run. Sid Hudson had to finish the ninth, however, when Nixon was injured in a slide, attempting to stretch his hit into a triple. Ted Williams beat out a bunt and added a double and a single in three official times at bat — a perfect night.

The Giants scored all of their runs against Pittsburgh on a grand slam home run by Don Mueller in the fifth inning. It was the second bases-loaded homer of his career for Mueller, who specializes in hitting singles. Don Liddle, who came to the Giants from Milwaukee with Johnny Antonelli during the winter, allowed only three hits, all singles.

Brooklyn found the home run range against Robin Roberts of the Phils and handed the strong-armed duke his 11th defeat. Duke Snider hit his 30th with a man on in the first. Carl Furillo and Sandy Amoros also homered. The Braves scored a run in the first inning against Bob Rush but left eight runners stranded in the next eight innings as Rush wet on to his eighth victory. Bob Talbot, a reserve outfielder, scored all three Chicago runs and slammed a double and two singles.

Marine Sergeant Tops National Rifle Meet

CAMP PERRY, Ohio (AP)—Army Capt. Louis J. North of Columbus, Ga., who led the match rifle division of the 1954 National High-power Rifle Championship last week, dropped out of contention today by falling six points behind the leader, S. Sgt. Michael Pietraforte of Parris Island, S. C.

The Marine sergeant had a 488 out of a possible 500, and a civilian, Alvin Nauman of Douglas, Wyo., moved into second with a 486.

"ALL AMERICANS" WIN HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Owen Lawson, Middleton, Ohio, and Alex Ellis, Hamilton, Ohio, led the way in scoring with 24 points each as the "All-Americans" whipped the Walawac All-Stars of the Huntington area 103-78, last night in a basketball game here. The All-Americans were made up of former high school basketball stars from several Mid-west states.

Rosen Sparks Indians' 7-2 Win Over Orioles

BALTIMORE (AP)—Just about the time people begin to worry seriously about Cleveland's Al Rosen, he whacks one.

Last night Al got his first home run in Baltimore's spacious park. It came on Joe Coleman's first pitch to him, and it landed in the left field stands while Larry Doby, who had just tripled home the Tribe's first two runs, came in with the third tally.

Staked to a 4-0 lead, Art Houtteman went on to win his 13th against six losses, beating the Orioles 7-2 with the help of two-hit and scorching pitching by Hal Newhouser in the last three frames. The victory enabled Cleveland to gain a full game on the New York Yankees.

Rosen's homer was his first in eight days and his second in a little more than three weeks. Thursday he reinjured his sore finger tagging a runner, and there was speculation about just how much good the Tribe's big man would do for the club on this important 19-game road trip.

But, just as he answered similar

Rookies to Give Cards Strong Hurling In '55

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Three rookie hurlers, plus veteran Harvey Haddix as the backbone, could form the nucleus of a top-flight corps of starting pitchers for the St. Louis Cardinals next season, something they have missed in 1954.

Brooks (The Bull) Lawrence, 29-year-old Negro who has compiled an 11-5 record since coming up in mid-June, heads the list.

The other two are Gordon Jones, 24, who has been with the club about two weeks, and Ralph Beard, 23, who came up with Lawrence. Jones turned in an eight-hit performance yesterday to defeat the Milwaukee Braves in 10 innings 2-1. His bid for a shutout was spoiled in the ninth.

Jones has allowed nine runs—only three of them earned—in 4 1/2 innings of work for an earned-run average of 1.13. He has appeared in four games, three as a starter, and has a 1-1 record.

Lawrence, who got his nickname through his ability to pitch with little rest, has appeared in 23 games for the Cards, 10 as a starter. His won-lost record places him second on the current staff behind Haddix's 15-9.

The Bull, who has beaten all other teams in the league at least once, has pitched 97 1/3 innings while allowing 36 earned runs for an earned-run mark of 3.32.

Beard, although he is yet to chalk up his first victory against two defeats, has turned in able performances during his nine appearances for the Cards.

He has pitched in 44 innings, allowing only 15 earned runs for an ERA of 3.06. Only 12 home runs have been hit off the trio.

Weekend Stars

BATTING — Don Mueller, New York Giants, hit the second grand slam home run of his career, accounting for all of the runs in New York's 4-0 triumph over Pittsburgh.

PITCHING — Willard Nixon, Boston Red Sox, became the first pitcher to beat the New York Yankees four times this season and drove in the winning run as Boston defeated New York, 4-3.

WINS SOFTBALL GAME SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Ashland Cresco set down the defending champions, Julian Appliance of Columbus, 2-0, in a first-round game in the Women's State Softball Tournament here yesterday. The Akron Rangers defeated Zanesville, 4-0. Dayton Country Kitchen defeated Akron Moore's Wrestlers, 5-3, and Hubbard defeated Zanesville, 10-0. Eight more games are on tap for today.

Rev. Arno Holderread Resigns As Pastor

COLUMBIANA — Details of a proposed reorganization of the state school system were explained by Dr. J. Fred Essig, assistant superintendent of Youngstown schools, at a dinner meeting of Fairfield Ruritan Club at Heck's Restaurant, Thursday evening. About 50 attended.

Dr. Essig explained the objective of a survey now in progress. The educational system of Ohio has undergone little change in more than 100 years, he said, and schoolmen from other states that have modernized their school systems have been called in to serve in an advisory capacity.

Ohio voters last year approved the setting up of a state board of education, and proposed details of its selection and powers are being laid before local groups to get expressions of their views to aid in formulating a recommended action to the legislature.

REV. ARNO Holderread, had resigned the pastorate of Zion Hill Church of the Brethren to accept a position as teacher in the eighth grade of the school at Elkton. He came here two years ago from North Manchester, Inc. Emerson Snyder, Lower Elkton Road, is chairman of the pulpits committee to find a new pastor. Orlan Wank of the Friends' Church in Salem will preach in Zion Hill church at 10:45 a.m. Sunday. The parsonage of Zion Hill church is at 241 Spruce St.

Another civil defense first aid course is to be started soon, John Ellis, rescue squad captain, announced, and persons interested are asked to get in touch with him. Thirty are enrolled in the first course, which opened last Tuesday at the Franklin Furniture Co., with Edgar Moser as the instructor. Forty more are waiting to enroll in the second course. The first one will conclude with a demonstration in Firestone Park, Tuesday evening, Sept. 14. The Columbiana County Red Cross chapter has donated class room equipment.

DEBORAH CIRCLE of Grace Evangelical and Reformed Church will have a family picnic in Pavilion 1, Firestone Park, at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday. Coffee and rolls will be provided.

Robert Hum, who will be assistant basketball coach of Columbiana High School the coming school year, moved here yesterday with his family from Somerset, Pa., where he had been a teacher. Robert is a graduate of Columbiana High School and the University of Pittsburgh, where he took post-graduate work this summer.

Robert Kimmel, Manager of the Columbiana Farm Bureau Co-operative, attended this week a school for branch managers at Canville. Columbiana Jehovah's Witnesses announce a public lecture at the Harvey Lamocha farm, a mile north of Washingtonville, at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow.

THE FRIENDLY class of Grace Evangelical and Reformed church will have a corn and wiener roast in Firestone Park at 6:30 p.m. today.

Miss Mary A. Buzard, an elementary teacher in Columbiana schools until her retirement several years ago, fell and broke her right hip a few days ago in the home of Miss Esther Wilson, New Springfield, where she had been living. She is in Salem City Hospital.

Columbiana Junior Saddle Club will have a horse show at the K.A.

Falls farm at the eastern edge of Leetonia, Sunday, beginning at 1:30 p.m. Prizes and ribbons will be awarded winners. Riders will be limited to 16 years and under.

Mrs. Olive Brown, 377 S. Main St., will teach in first grade in the school at Elkton the coming school year.

at the new pavilion north of the speed barn. Four-H dairy judging will be Wednesday at 9 a.m., sheep and hall exhibits judging at 10 a.m. and 4-H judging at 11 and 4-H steer judging at 1 p.m. The big crop of 4-H steers will be auctioned in front of the grandstand at 7 p.m.

Cattle in open class will be rated Thursday at 10 a.m. and pony judging will be Friday at 11 a.m. 4-H Activities

Youth will reign on Junior Fair Day Friday. Junior fair exhibits will be on display at the 4-H building and the wing of feral hall. Extra booths have been erected by members of the Junior Fair Board and 4-H Junior Leadership Club to take care of the numerous projects to be displayed.

Final bits of gay crepe paper and other materials are being added to 4-H floats to be judged Friday at 1 p.m. preceding the 4-H program at 1:30.

Bands will play, Franklin Hall of Hanoverton R.D. and Carol Huston, of Negley R.D. will be crowned 4-H king and queen, then floats will pass in review before the grandstand.

A style revue will be staged and a 4-H and Future Farmers of America livestock parade held.

Awards for outstanding 4-H club work will be presented by members of the County Agricultural Extension Service.

Winners of the health essay contest, on the subject "The Need for an Adequate Public Health Program in Columbiana County," will be announced and trophies and awards presented. Walter Tschabold of Minerva R.D., president of the County Board of Health, the sponsoring group, will give the awards. Seventh and eighth graders in the general health district competed.

Improvements visitors will find a cattle washing rack of concrete and steel near the cattle barns for cleaning and cooling animals.

A loading ramp to accommodate three trucks just west of the pony barn near the racetrack.

A seven-foot wiremesh fence across the fair front with a wide gate for moving traffic more easily.

An entrance at the southeast corner near the speed barn to allow traffic from Columbiana to enter.

A new slatted road from the speed barn to the sheep barn.

Water supply increased four-fold by installation of a 1½-inch water line to all buildings.

Increased electric power at new floral hall for the operation of home appliances, such as washing machines, stoves, TV sets.

New asphalt pavement at the north end of fairgrounds road.

Eight rest-a-while benches under the big oak trees between the 4-H building and Grange hall, placed there by Junior Leadership Club.

is a large wheat producer, but which has many counties in it which think quite properly could be put on a non-commercial area.

"The (agriculture) committee will give further consideration to that."

Hope and others on the committee tried to do something about this problem last year, by excluding all farmers growing 25 acres of wheat or less from the program.

But the Senate committee changed this back to 15 acres or less. That is the way the law still reads.

Another way to handle the Ohio complaints, says Hope, would be the two price system. This would mean unlimited wheat production by all farmers, but selling at home at a fixed price and abroad at world market price, which would normally be lower.

There is another aspect to acreage allotments that Congressman Brown of Blanchester, Ohio says will take farmers "very, very much dissatisfied."

This is Secretary of Agriculture Benson's decision regarding penalties for over-planting.

Under Benson's ruling, if a farmer violates his acreage restrictions on just one crop, price supports on everything he raises will be withdrawn.

"I question whether department has that legal authority," says Brown.

Auto Club Officers

On State Committees

A. P. Morris, manager of the Columbiana County Automobile Club, Robert Campbell, assistant manager, and Atty. Lynn Riddle of the club board of directors have been appointed to new committees of the State Automobile Association.

Morris has been named to the road service committee, Campbell to the safety committee, and Riddle to the legislative committee.

Ike Makes Plans For Fall Election

Takes Speech-Writing Aides On Vacation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower flies off to a Colorado vacation today obviously pleased with the way his legislative program fared and bent on a speaking campaign to help fellow Republicans win firmer control of the next Congress.

White House aides claimed the chief executive batted about 83 percent in the congressional session which adjourned last night. They said passage of 54 of 65 administration proposals by a closely divided Senate an dHouse added up to a "pretty good" average.

About a score of the Eisenhower-supported measures remained to be signed. The President ordered these and a lot of other unfinished business put aboard his plane, the Columbine, for the 6½-hour flight to Denver.

The President also arranged to take along speech-writing assistants and material for talks Monday and Aug. 30. Other speeches are planned for September.

Another sign that preparations for the fall election campaign already are gathering speed was Eisenhower's agreement to sandwich into the brief space between breakfast and departure in individual picture-taking with 39 GOP House candidates.

up unsettled issues after France and Italy have ratified the treaty. But French Premier Pierre Mendes-France feels a pledge to re-open negotiations later is not enough to help him get EDC approved by the balky French Parliament.

Only Spaak seemed optimistic after the breakup of the long session this morning. He said, "We went through all the questions without reaching a deadlock" and added he still had "some hope."

Furniture Damaged In Fire At Lisbon

LISBON — A lighted cigarette was blamed for a fire which caused $300 damage to furniture in the upstairs apartment of Thomas Hoos of 924 N. Marnet St., early this morning.

Hoos, who works at the Lisbon Spring and Wire Co., said he and his wife awoke at 1:30 a.m. and found their rooms full of smoke. The upholstered living room chair and rugs were on fire. Firemen extinguished the fire.

Hanover Fire Festival To End Tonight

HANOVERTON — Approximately 800 persons were in attendance Friday night for the annual festival sponsored by the Hanover Township Volunteer Fire Association and Leetonia-Rush American Legion Post.

The main event of the evening was the participation of six fire departments in a competitive event. Each department was required to have six men on their trucks and 50-foot sections of two and a half inch hose for the demonstration. The feat was to draft water from a vat and fill a tub 100 feet away and float a beach ball forcing it out of the tub.

The judges were Ray Porter of the Homeworth Fire Association; Joseph Hartline, captain of the Deerfield Fire Department, and Robert Atchison, assistant chief of the Beloit department. Scoring was based on the point system with 50 points for time and 50 points for efficiency.

Knox Township won the event with 90 points, Damascus was second with 87 points, West Point third with 86. Minerva fourth with 85, Franklin fifth with 80 and Robertsville sixth with 80 points.

The festival will continue tonight featuring a barber shop chorus of 45 voices from East Liverpool. Two quartets, the Jolly Boys and the Nu-Tones, will also sing.
